Germany Wants All Armaments Reduced to Same Relative Status as Its Own

SPEAKERS ARE CHEERED

U. S. Would Cut Navies, Prolong Pacts, Bar Submarines and Offensive Arms

Geneva.—(AP)—Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, acting chief of the United States delegation to the world disarmament conference, and Chancellor Heinrich Brüning of Germany presented to the conference today the American and German proposals for limitation of armaments, both of which differed at many essential points from the proposal of France, presented last week by Andre Tardieu, French foreign minister.

The American proposal presented by Ambassador Gibson, who was warmly applauded by the delegates as he ascended the rostrum contained nine points.

These included the prolongation of the Washington and London naval agreements, further reduction of naval armament, abolition of submarines and promotion of land disarmament by restricting tanks and mobile guns, discard of lethal gases and prevention of bacteriological warfare, protection of civil populations against aerial bombing, limiting defensive forces to those necessary to maintain internal order plus some contingent for defense, and "budgetary limitation of expenditures for war supplies when their direct limitation has been secured."

Mr. Gibson's declaration of American policy, particularly as it applied to armaments in general, appeared to make a favorable impression among the various delegations. Apparently its most valuable feature was an admission of the usefulness of the budgetary method for limiting armaments, which was flatly rejected by the United States delegation in the preparatory commission.

Officials of the Century company, which is headed by E. L. Cord, announced that planes operated between Chicago and St. Louis today on the regular schedule, piloted by licensed transport pilots who were familiar with the route but who had not previously been in the employ of the Century company. They said it was not a lockout and that licensed transport pilots would get jobs on the Century line if they agreed to the new wage basis, whether they had worked for the company before or not.

The old salaries of the Century pilots ranged from $350 to $815 according to length of service. The new schedule guarantees $150 as the monthly minimum and gives them $3 an hour for day and $5 an hour for night flying.

The Century pilots were members of the Air Line Pilots association and headed by J. H. Stinson. William F. Bliss, operations manager of Century Air lines, said the pilots had threatened to strike at midnight tomorrow night unless the new wage schedules were abandoned.

German Program

Chancellor Brüning's statement pledged Germany, "with all emphasis," to the advocacy of general disarmament "of an unmistakable nature, such as the league of nations covenant envisaged" but set out no formal program except to ask that the armaments of all nations be reduced to the same low relative status as Germany. He said he would present a formal program later.

Referring to the proposal presented by M. Tardieu for France last week, he said:

"Let us do away with the efforts, by this or that interpretation of the rules, to secure for ourselves the possibility of military expansion of power and to take it away from

23 Fliers Are Dismissed In Wage Dispute

Chicago.—(AP)—The 23 pilots on the Century Air lines were discharged today and the plane schedule was interrupted as the result of a wage dispute.

The pilots had balked at a salary reduction which they said amounted to almost 50 per cent and had made unsuccessful attempts to negotiate with the Century management. The reduction was to have gone into effect Feb. 1, but an "armistice" was declared for 10 days.

No agreement had been reached today, however, and pilots who went to work in Chicago this morning found the hangar locked and were handed letters notifying them their "resignations" were accepted. Pilots out at various points on the Century's Midwest route received wires telling them to turn in their equipment.

Officials of the Century company, which is headed by E. L. Cord, announced that planes operated between Chicago and St. Louis today on the regular schedule, piloted by licensed transport pilots who were familiar with the route but who had not previously been in the employ of the Century company. The Century pilots were members of the Air Line Pilots association and headed by J. H. Stinson.

William F. Bliss, operations manager of Century Air lines, said the pilots had threatened to strike at midnight tomorrow night unless the new wage schedules were abandoned.

Stinson said the pilots had made several attempts to arbitrate but that Cord refused to meet any of them. "Mr. Cord seemed to think," Stinson said, "that $200 a month is a good price for an airplane pilot. We can't keep ourselves in proper condition and live decently on that."

The Century air lines began operations last March with tri-motored ships flying between Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Toledo and between Chicago and St. Louis.

MOTHER, FIVE CHILDREN DIE IN BURNING HOME

Hazleton, Pa.—(AP)—Mrs. Carmen Romanelli, 38, died today with five of her ten children in a fire that wrecked her home in Treschow, a mining village near here. Her husband, five other children, and a boarder, Dominick Morratt, escaped.

Ralph, six months old, died with his mother. Louis, his twin brother, was carried to safety by Morratt. The other dead in the family, besides Mrs. Romanelli and Ralph, are: Dana, 14; Betty, 7; Joseph, 9; and Marguerite, 4. A spark from an overheated fuse caused the fire.

EDGE DENIES HE PLANS TO RESIGN AS ENVOY

New York.—(AP)—Walter E. Edge, American ambassador to France, arrived today for a brief visit and declined talk about his reentering politics in New Jersey in an active way. He was "most assuredly" in favor of the New Jersey delegation being instructed to vote for President Hoover at the coming national convention.

The ambassador said he was enjoying his work in Paris, which is now in its third year, and smilingly secured an idea that he intended to resign in the near future.

LEGION FINDS ENOUGH WORK FOR 100 MEN

More Jobs Will Be Available in City When Weather Becomes Warmer

Although complete figures on the number of hours of employment available in Appleton for "the man in the block" and "the woman in the block" are not complete today, members of Oney Johnston post who directed the job survey last night are pleased with the manner in which they were received, the support given, and support pledged.

Indications are that approximately 100 men will receive immediate employment doing odd jobs around homes. With the advent of warmer weather, there will be more jobs open.

The modernization survey also conducted by the war veterans and others who helped in their drive last night brought pledges of considerable modernization work and improvement. Many of the jobs pledged will be painting.

Although the workers last night stayed until after midnight tabulating reports, it soon was decided that only after thorough consolidation of reports will any summary be forthcoming.

E. W. Hammond, director of the legion's employment office, this morning surveyed the pledges from the First ward making note on a map of the blocks in which there are jobs available. It was expected that by afternoon he would have consolidated the jobs and would have gotten in touch with unemployed men who Wednesday will start work.

Many Homes Missed
A further canvass for pledges this morning revealed that there were many homes in the city that were missed last night. Two pledges for 40 hours were turned in within a few minutes of each other this morning and prompted veterans to arrange a clean-up campaign.

Another aspect of the registration of unemployed has developed within the last few days. Establishment of the employment office has prompted persons in the city seeking someone for a part time job to call the office and ask that a man or woman be sent out. "And that's just what we want them to do," said Mr. Hammond. "If we can get people to centralize their jobs in this office we can do much to help almost everyone registered here."

Three or four persons were sent out on jobs Tuesday morning, several on Monday and last week several more were placed. The jobs ranged from doing ironing to painting in a manufacturing plant.

"Placing of men on jobs will be done slowly," Herb Heileg, chairman of the legion's registration committee, said today. "We have found the job opportunities for these men. Now we want to place the best men on the jobs and to do that we must go slow and the employers must be

THREATENING NOTES CLEW IN ABDUCTION

Annapolis, Md.—(AP)—With several threatening notes as their only clue, police of Maryland today sought the District of Columbia today sought Mrs. Esther Sands, 25, kidnapped from her home here last night.

Disappearance of the woman was reported to police by Charles H. Sands, her husband, when she failed to keep an appointment with him. He feared their home disarranged, apparently the scene of a struggle. A pistol he had given her for protection was found on the floor, one shell discharged.

Sands told police that over a period of two years, his wife had received a series of threatening letters, the last one arriving Saturday. It was after receipt of the letters and one previous attack on her that Sands gave her the pistol, he said.

22 HEAD OF CATTLE PERISH IN FLAMES

Fond du Lac.—(AP)—Twenty-two head of cattle were burned to death and more than 20 tons of hay and other farm products were destroyed today when a barn on the farm of Clarence Peebles near here was destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin. Farm hands entering the barn said the cattle were overcome by smoke and they were unable to save them.

In another fire about the same time the residence of R. S. Salter, a land mark in the city, was badly damaged. The Salter residence was built in 1875. Damage in the two fires was estimated at $15,000.

Rochester, Minn.—(AP)—Mrs. Knute Rockne, who underwent a major operation last week, today was reported by physicians in "satisfactory condition, although she spent an uncomfortable night."

Approved

ARTHUR A. BALLANTINE

Washington.—(AP)—The senate finance committee today approved the nominations of Ogden L. Mills as secretary of the treasury and Arthur A. Ballantine as undersecretary. The Mills and Ballantine appointments were favorably acted upon without a record vote. Chairman Smoot said the decision was unanimous for both.

CAPONE PLEA BEFORE FEDERAL TRIBUNAL

Attorneys Offer Technical Arguments While Gang Remains in Jail

Chicago.—(AP)—Minus all the public interest and glamor that surrounded "Scarface" Al Capone's trial and conviction for dodging federal taxes on his millions, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals listened today to technical arguments on the gangster's appeal.

Capone himself, with 11 years of freedom at stake, could not hear the debate.

He had been refused bail and rather than go to Leavenworth prison to start serving his term, he elected to wait in the Cook-cook jail for the outcome of his appeal. There he has stayed since Oct. 24, without making any credit on the long penitentiary term that lies ahead if he loses in higher courts.

Attorneys Albert P. Fink and Michael A. Ahern divided their hour of argument for the jailed gang lord, while Jacob I. Grossman and Dwight H. Green, assistant U. S. district attorneys, argued for the government.

With District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, Elmer L. Gray, chief of the special intelligence unit of the internal revenue department, and A. P. Madden, Chicago intelligence chief, auditing the proceedings.

Fink stayed within the agreed bounds and did not raise questions concerning the evidence that led to the 11-year sentence and $57,000 fine. He challenged the validity of the indictment.

FAVORS DEATH PENALTY FOR KIDNAPERS IN U. S.

Washington.—(AP)—The Cochran bill making interstate kidnapping a federal offense punishable by death tentatively was set for hearing on Feb. 26 today by the house judiciary committee. The measure is similar in form to the white slave act and the Dyer law against interstate automobile theft. It does not have the approval of the justice department.

VILLAGE WINS POWER SUIT IN SUPREME COURT

Combined Locks Had Right to Grant Franchise to South Shore Utility

Madison.—(AP)—All townships of the state were thrown wide open to competition between public utilities when the state supreme court today reversed the railroad commission's ruling that the South Shore Utility company can not operate in the village of Combined Locks, in Outagamie co., until it receives permission. The commission's ruling, which had been sustained in circuit court held that the Kaukauna municipal utility had an indeterminate permit to operate in the town of Buchanan, where Combined Locks is located and that the village therefore had no right to grant the South Shore utility a franchise.

The case involves a long history and the succession of one power utility by another. Kaukauna, which borders on the township of Buchanan, purchased in 1912 a private utility with customers in the town. The South Shore company was given a franchise by the village in 1929 to take over the privileges of the Combined Locks Paper company which had been rendering power service in the village.

Upon this action of the village the railroad commission made an investigation and concluded that Kaukauna had an indeterminate permit to operate in the town which precluded the granting of a franchise to the South Shore company unless that company obtained a permit from the commission.

"The legislature has never seen fit to authorize towns to grant franchises to public utilities nor to provide in what manner a public utility may secure, if at all, an indeterminate permit in a town," the supreme court held.

Justice George B. Nelson, who wrote the opinion added:

"If the effect of this decision be to place towns in a field where a free-for-all rendering of utility service by different public utilities may be permitted, we can only say that such is the effect of the law as it exists."

The decision was regarded as upsetting the efforts of the 1931 legislature to give the New Public Service commission authority for a complete and general regulation of the expansion of utilities. It also indicated that new legislation will have to be enacted to cover the field in which the court pointed out no prior legislation has been passed.

The public service commission is expected to ask for a rehearing. The opinion, it was explained, does not affect telephone and telegraph utilities as their operating permits are governed by a special legislative act.

"The time may come—it may even now be at hand—when the occupancy of town territory by public utilities may be so extensive as to bring into economic conflict two or more public utilities," the supreme court said. "It is, however, for the legislature to note changing or unchanging conditions and to legislate in regard thereto as it shall deem wise and in the public interest."

Under existing law a public utility does not obtain an indeterminate permit in a town by simply occupying highways, or by virtue of organization, or by merely extending its service to persons and places within a town.

The opinion means that the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, also operating in Combined Locks, is likewise without an indeterminate permit. The Wisconsin Michigan company and the Kaukauna utility sometime ago agreed to a division of territory in the town.

SIGNET RING MAY LEAD TO SLAYER OF CHILD

Philadelphia.—(AP)—A signet ring gave police their first tangible clue today in their search for the slayer of seven-year-old Dorothy Lutz. The child disappeared Wednesday and her body was found yesterday in an unattended house a few doors away from her home.

The ring was inscribed with the initials "D. L. V." and was found under the girl's body. Her widowed mother, Mrs. Florence Lutz, said the child was exceptionally fond of rings but both she and her aged father, Miles Hood, with whom she lived, said they had never seen the one found.

Roosevelt On Party Ballot In N. Dakota

Bismarck, N. D.—(AP)—Petitions filing Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, as a Democratic presidential candidate in the state primary election March 15, were accepted by the secretary of state today. His name was ordered placed on the ballot.

Petitions bearing more than 2,400 signatures, six times the number required, were filed with the secretary of state, to enter Roosevelt's name as a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

North Dakota Democrats have been circulating the petitions since the New Yorker last month gave them permission to enter his name in the primary.

The name of one other presidential candidate has been presented to the secretary of state. He is Joseph I. France, former United States senator from Maryland, whose name was filed by Progressive Republicans.

State political leaders said several other names would be entered in the primary race before the Feb. 13 filing deadline.

TALKS WITH SMITH

Albany, N. Y.—(AP)—Whatever Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith may have talked about at their New York city conference, the governor returned to Albany bubbling over with good humor, in contrast to the silent executive who had left the capital the night before.

Newspapermen who on Sunday brought Roosevelt to the Smith estate, generally considered as making them opponents for the Democratic presidential nomination, remarked he looked worried and commented on his silence. Then came the Voelcker funeral in New York and the visit of Mr. Smith to the Roosevelt town house. The governor came to Albany immediately after the conference.

He met newspapermen's questions when he reached Albany with humor and left the principal ones unanswered. He would not discuss the statement in which Mr. Smith permitted the use of his name in the presidential race, and he refused to say what they had to tell each other when they met.

Asked directly whether his obvious happiness was the result of the meeting, he parried the question.

Jap Proposal Under Attack At Nanking

Washington.—(AP)—At the urgent suggestion of Secretary Stimson, the house foreign affairs committee today shelved the Fish resolution to prohibit shipment of arms and ammunition to warring countries.

Nanking.—(AP)—Lo Wen Kan, minister of foreign affairs in the Nationalist government, today said Japanese proposals to demilitarize zones around China's principal ports were "an additional effort to gain additional territory as a military base to be used against the Chinese."

Lo described the plan as "highly absurd," adding there was no analogy between the present situation in Shanghai and that existing in Tientsin in 1902 which was referred to by Tokio.

"I suggest applying this antiquated arrangement to Shanghai not only constitutes an attempt to destroy the administrative sovereignty of a sovereign nation—which no respectable nation can tolerate—but also discloses a sinister intention on the part of the Japanese to extend an area of which they may again make use as a base for military operations against the Chinese forces when they should again engage in further aggression in China."

JAPANESE SURPRISED

Tokio.—(AP)—Japanese foreign office circles expressed surprise today over accounts of an unfavorable reaction in the United States to Japan's proposal to remove the Chinese military from important commercial centers in China and place them under international control.

"Those who disapprove of Japan's proposals should attempt to offer something better," a foreign office spokesman said.

A continuation of the present state of affairs in China, such as the anti-Japanese movements and the boycott against Japanese goods would necessitate Japan's sending troops into the country from time to time, he said.

"If the world is going to become historical every time Japan takes military action in China proper," he added, "it is time some permanent remedy were evolved."

The plan suggested yesterday, he said, did not mean the partition of China, as some Washington quarters were reported to have interpreted it. He denied it meant interfering with China's administrative integrity, since Chinese administrative organs, he said, would function inside the demilitarized areas.

"If China is permitted to continue to drift," he said, "a partition is much more likely than if the powers step in with positive measures."

NO TRACE FOUND OF LONE BANK ROBBER

Gunman Wounds Youth Through Legs—Takes $6,000 from Delavan Bank

Delavan, Wis.—(AP)—A lone bank robber who obtained approximately $6,000 in currency in a daylight holdup of the Citizens' bank of Delavan was still at liberty today despite an extensive search.

Descriptions of the man were disseminated in neighboring cities and Sheriff James Mason directed 20 deputies in a search of the lake region near here without finding a trace of him. The trail was lost at Palmyra, Wis., where he was believed to have bought gasoline for his automobile, which carried no license plates.

A light gray hat and a 38 caliber revolver bullet were the principal clues to the robber's identity. They were found in the bank after the robber fled. The hat bore the label of a Chicago haberdasher.

The bullet was fired from the robber's gun when he shot Edgar Sikes, 22, through both legs. Sikes entered the bank to investigate when a burglar alarm sounded in a pool room across the street. The robber apologized for shooting him before he drove away.

Picking the Right Rent

When you insert a rental ad in the Post-Crescent Rental columns it is important to place the ad at least six days in advance. This is to insure a sufficient number of prospects in order to choose just the renter you want.

Mrs. Otto Reetz, 815 N. Clark st., recently scheduled a "Classified" House for rent and secured about eleven calls—thus giving her a choice list from which to pick her tenant. Sufficient description and a sex (or more) publication of your ad is a combination usually bringing the best results.

Chinese Detachment Throwing Up Defenses Behind Woosung Forts

BRITISH WOMAN SHOT

Joseph C. Grew Is Named as United States Ambassador to Japan

Tokio.—(AP)—Junnosuke Inouye, one of Japan's outstanding financiers and a leader of the Minseitō party, was killed tonight by a 23-year-old assassin who fired on him as he arrived at a political meeting.

The assassin, whose name is Tadaaki Konuma, was arrested immediately. The motive for the crime was not known.

Next to Yuku Hamaguchi, who died last August of an assassin's bullet, Mr. Inouye, who twice served as finance minister, was regarded as the strongest man in the Minseitō party.

Reijiro Wakatsuki succeeded Hamaguchi as premier and head of the party, but his elevation was considered a temporary expedient and Inouye was expected to become the party chief and premier whenever the Minseitō faction returned to power.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS MIX SALUTES WITH ATTACKS ON FORTS

Shanghai.—(AP)—Japanese warships mixed their spirits of gun-firing at the forts of Woosung with political salutes, passing foreign warships today with perfect equanimity.

Every time a non-combatant warship passed the Japanese destroyer line off shore, the Japanese ceased firing at the forts, dipped their flags, reloaded their hot guns with blanks, and fired salutes.

As soon as the foreign warships passed, they resumed firing with renewed fury at the Chinese defenses. Paying commercial vessels also merited a "cease firing" order until they had passed.

power, probably in the general election which is to be held on Feb. 20. During his last term as minister of finance he fought hard to keep Japan on the gold standard, and when that standard was not abandoned until the Minseitō went out with the recent cabinet reorganization.

Konuma's identity was not known to the police.

Inouye was finance minister in two cabinets and held numerous important offices in Japanese financial institutions.

His career began with the Bank of Japan and after having occupied several important posts he was made chief of the bank's business bureau, subsequently touring Europe and the United States for the bank.

He became president of the Yokohama Specie bank and was governor of the Bank of Japan twice. He was 63 years old.

BATTLE CONTINUES

Shanghai.—(AP)—Machine gun bullets whined across the Kiangwan race track late today and aerial bombs were dropping between here and Woosung as the Japanese attacked a large Chinese detachment throwing up defense works behind the Woosung forts.

A shell from a Japanese destroyer burst a powder magazine in the fort earlier in the afternoon, causing a terrific explosion and raising a cloud of dense black smoke which spread over the countryside. Nevertheless the Chinese held on.

Meanwhile, the artillery was in action again in the Chapel sector and at least one foreigner was wounded by a bullet which ripped across the international settlement boundary.

She was the wife of Detective Inspector Harry Robertson, British member of the municipal police force. Her injuries were not serious. Most of the shells were duds.

Up on the northern settlement boundary the 31st United States Infantry took over the patrol from a British detachment. They were close enough to hear the shooting, but their position was about a mile from the action in Chapel.

The second battalion spread along a mile of the Soochow creek. In Shum District

Their patrol was in an area which constitutes the section of Shanghai's slums. Facing them was the creek, one of the dirtiest streams in the world, littered with sampans and other small craft which are the only homes of thousands of Chinese men, women and children ever had.

Along the creek bank the dogs and cats, ducks and chickens from the squalid river colony were scavenging for food while the American troops built bonfires against the unaccustomed cold.

Behind the American line were dingy storehouses, row dumps, and small Chinese factories, again which leaned the rickety stam-

Winnie Ruth Judd Condemned To Hang For Leroi Murder

JURY CONVICTS HER AFTER SIX VOTES ON FATE

Defense Prepares to Take Appeal, Mandatory Under Arizona Law

Phoenix, Ariz. —(AP)— Death on the gallows has been decreed for Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, 27-year-old daughter of a retired minister.

An all-male jury last night found her guilty of the murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne Leroi her friend, and specified the death penalty.

The jury deliberated three hours and 40 minutes. Six ballots were taken.

Mrs. Judd heard the verdict without show of emotion. She was immediately taken to her cell, where she walked in front of her mirror and viewed herself several seconds.

Sheriff J. R. McFadden ordered a day and night guard maintained in the cell, fearing Mrs. Judd might attempt to end her life.

Before the state may hang Mrs. Judd, an appeal is mandatory under Arizona law. The defense counsel said the appeal would be made soon after sentence is pronounced Feb. 13.

Mrs. Judd is the second woman condemned to the gallows by a jury in Arizona. Mrs. Eva Dugan was hanged in 1930 for the murder of A. J. Mathis, aged recluse of Tucson.

Mrs. Judd's middle-aged husband, Dr. William C. Judd, Los Angeles physician, was at her side when the verdict was read. He wept in his arms. Her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Joy McKinnell of Darlington, Ind., had retired for the night, and were not awakened. Her brother, Burton McKinnell, also was absent from the courtroom.

Prepares for Battle

"This fight," said Paul Schenck, chief defense attorney, "has just begun. Ninety-one persons, including Mrs. Judd, have placed their lives in my care during my career. Ninety-one of them are still alive tonight."

Mrs. Judd was arrested in Los Angeles last Oct. 23, a few days after the bodies of Mrs. Leroi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson were found in trunks at a Los Angeles railway station. The two women had been killed in Phoenix Oct. 15. Mrs. Judd claimed the trunks at the railway station had been left by a baggage agent attempted to question her.

Mrs. Judd was tried only for the murder of Mrs. Leroi, a second murder charge having been held in abeyance.

The trial was largely a battle of wits between the defense and the prosecution, who argued over the mental condition of the defendant, the defense alleging she was insane when she killed the two women and later dismembered the body of Miss Samuelson to place it in trunks and a suitcase.

The state alleged jealousy was the motive, claiming the young woman was jealous over the attentions paid Mrs. Leroi by J. J. Halloran, wealthy Phoenix lumber man with whom Mrs. Judd was friendly.

Alleged Insanity

Through testimony of Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, Los Angeles; Dr. Clifford Wright, endocrinologist; and Dr. George W. Stephens, superintendent of the Arizona State Hospital for Insane, Mrs. Judd's counsel endeavored to establish her as of unsound mind.

Mrs. Judd's parents testified that her members of their family had been insane.

The defense also sought to capitalize the possibility of an accomplice for accessory to the crimes, and thus create "reasonable doubt" of Mrs. Judd's guilt.

Prosecution alienists, Dr. Paul E. Bowers, Los Angeles psychiatrist, and Dr. Joseph Catton of San Francisco, declared Mrs. Judd sane—"one of the lucky offsprings" of an insane father who killed the two women and later dismembered the body of Miss Samuelson to place it in trunks and a suitcase.

Dr. Catton testified Mrs. Judd had related to him details of an alleged love affair with Halloran.

"I believe," said he, "she loved Jack Halloran—that she was jealous of him."

CLUB WOULD LOWER BAND APPROPRIATION

Limit of $3,000 to Be Asked in Petitions to Common Council

Petitions requesting the common council to amend the ordinance governing appropriations for the 120th field artillery band, fixing the minimum appropriation at $3,000 and the maximum at $10,000, are being circulated. It was reported at the monthly meeting of the Fifth Ward Voters' club in the basement auditorium of the Appleton State bank building Monday evening.

The club also went on record protesting the $5 fee which the school board is asking the voters' organization to pay for meeting at Washington school. A copy of the resolution is being forwarded to the board.

Plans for assisting a group of citizens of the village of Black Creek in organization of a voters' club in that place also were discussed. Several members of the club plan to attend a meeting at Black Creek Wednesday evening when organization of a club similar to the one in Appleton will be discussed.

SALVATION ARMY HEAD SPEAKS HERE

Dr. A. M. Nicol Opens Educational Campaign in Appleton Headquarters

Dr. A. M. Nicol, head of the trust and legacy department of the Salvation Army, former commissioner and for many years literary secretary to the organization's founder, opened an educational campaign in behalf of the Salvation Army here Monday evening at the Appleton corps auditorium on N. Morrison-st. The topic of his address was "God and Mother."

The speaker will give another address at the Salvation Army auditorium here at 7:30 Tuesday evening. His topic tonight is "The Bad Boy of the Family." Dr. Nicol has appeared before leading service clubs and colleges of Wisconsin during the past few months.

COUNTY WOULD MAKE ESTATE PAY AID COSTS

Case to Be Taken to State Supreme Court as Test—Will Establish Precedent

A test case, which will determine whether counties have the right to collect from the estate of a person who received old age pension the amount thus paid, is to be taken to the state supreme court from the Outagamie-co probate court. The case resulted from a ruling made by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in probate court this week in which he allowed a claim for $1,220 filed by Outagamie-co against the estate of August Wickesberg, formerly of the town of Grand Chute.

Wickesberg's estate consists of a small homestead in the town of Grand Chute which is valued at less than $3,000. Under the old age pension law a pension cannot be granted to anyone with an estate of more than $3,000. Wickesberg had been receiving an old age pension. The aid given him by the county totaled $1,220, the amount of the claim. One of Wickesberg's heirs, a daughter, objected to the claim on the ground that such a claim cannot be collected against a homestead. Judge Heinemann, however, ruled the claim was legal.

It will be the first case of this nature ever taken to the supreme court and the ruling is expected to establish a precedent by which future cases of this nature will be settled.

DISCUSS PUBLICITY AT COMMITTEE MEET

Plans for giving more publicity to activities of the Appleton Kiwanis club were discussed at a recent meeting of the club's publicity committee in the offices of Louis Sleeper, secretary. Those present were Mr. Sleeper, Charles Bohl, C. C. Nelson, Chris Roemer, Clarence Harvey, Herbert Goldberg and Orville Hegner.

JUDGE DISALLOWS ONE OF 2 WILLS IN $22,000 ESTATE

Holds Second Document Was Made With Use of Undue Influence

The second of two wills made by Mrs. Laura A. McLiesh, who died Jan. 30, 1930, was disallowed in a ruling by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in probate court this week. Both wills were presented for probate and under Judge Heinemann's finding the first will can now be presented for proving and probate.

The first will was made by Mrs. McLiesh in Appleton on June 23, 1915, while the second was made March 24, 1927, while Mrs. McLiesh was living with her stepson, A. E. McLiesh, in Fort Benton, Mont. The first will was presented for probate by Mrs. Emma Fairbanks Fulmer, a niece, Appleton, while the second was presented by McLiesh. Mrs. McLiesh's estate is estimated to total $22,000.

In her petition seeking probate of the first will and disallowance of the second Mrs. Fulmer charged undue influence was used on Mrs. McLiesh and that she was of unsound mental capacity when the second will was made. Judge Heinemann upheld both these contentions.

Under terms of the first will four nieces and nephews, including Mrs.

Irishman Finds Native Of His County In City

A voice richly brogued, a flashing smile full of Irish blarney and eyes as blue as Erin's skies, Pat, fresh from Ireland, found an immediate friend in Mrs. H. J. Dresely when he landed in the Appleton Relief and Welfare community store on Washington-st. one day last week.

Pat came from his native land to see America and is "bumming" his way about between visits to American brothers and sisters. He came to the store to replenish his winter apparel. He and Mrs. Dresely became fast friends when it was found that Mrs. Dresely's people were from the same county of Roscommon that Pat had so recently left.

Mrs. Dresely declared that he was a hard person to outfit because everytime she gave him something to wear Pat insisted that she take something of his in return.

"Sure an' you kape 'em," he told her as he handed in his only pair of gloves for a muffler. "Somebody'll be nadin' them worse than I."

When she reminded him that he wouldn't get such a nice pair of shoes in his own country, Pat flashed his Irish smile upon her in return.

"Sure an' I wouldn't be nadin' them there because we go barefoot," which is a true custom of Roscommon-co. Pat spent the night at the county jail which he declared was a "fine place" because he could wash his clothes and take a bath.

RELIGION BIG OBSTACLE FOR SMITH IN RACE

AI's Followers Refuse to Concede Catholic Cannot Be Elected

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1932 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Al Smith has thrown his "hat in the ring" and only the religious issue in American politics will take it out.
Undismayed by the paucity of his electoral votes and remembering only that he polled the largest popular vote ever received by any candidate for the presidency except one, Mr. Smith has responded to the millions of his followers who refuse to concede that a Catholic cannot be elected president of the United States.
Mr. Smith's announcement of candidacy is a challenge. No matter what the practical politicians may say about the unwisdom of projecting the religious issue once more, the former New York governor plainly says he will run for the presidency if his party wishes him to do so. He places the responsibility for selection on his party and not on an active campaign of his own for debates.
The net effect of the statement is to temporarily to throw confusion into the Democratic ranks. Many of the sincere friends of Mr. Smith did not really expect him to become a candidate again. They thought it would mean disunity and dissension. The Republicans, of course, are gleeful, for anything that disconcerts the Democrats and promises to leave scars of battle after the Democratic national convention has adjourned next June will be beneficial to the Hoover cause.
The Smith pronouncement immediately is a disturbing development for the Roosevelt candidacy. It means that New York state will be divided and it means a cleavage between Smith and anti-Smith forces in other states with Roosevelt likely to be the individual around whom the anti-Smith sentiment will crystallize, thus making a bitter fight reminiscent of the McAdoo-Smith battle of 1924.
The incident is taken in the national capital to mean that the Roosevelt and Smith forces will kill each other off and thus the way will be opened for Newton D. Baker, Governor Ritchie, Owen Young, Melvin Traylor, Speaker Garner and others whose names are being prominently mentioned nowadays.
For many months, New York political leaders have been talking of the expected public break between Roosevelt and Smith. Some of the friends of Governor Roosevelt have taken him to task for a mistake in strategy. He should have announced, they said, that he favored Mr. Smith's renomination. They thought he should have placed the burden of rejecting Mr. Smith on the party itself, so that Smith's friends could have eventually taken up the cudgels for the man who succeeded Smith as governor of New York.
Now Mr. Roosevelt is left alone. Mr. Smith aspires to the presidency and as long as he is actively in the running for the nomination, all other candidates must seek a way to inherit his strength if he is not to be successful himself. On paper, the Democratic standard bearer of 1928 has an excellent record. His vote-getting ability is comparable to that of William Jennings Bryan, who was thrice nominated. The Hoover regime which Smith has been attacking as having failed to carry out its pledges is admittedly unpopular. The Democratic sages believe they have an excellent chance to elect any candidate they nominate except one—Al Smith himself. This is because they are apprehensive about the religious issue which broke up the solid south when nothing else has ever budged its Democratic regularity. Can a period of economic depression and the tide that has set in so strongly against the Hoover regime overcome even the religious prejudices that broke down the Smith campaign nearly four years ago?
Al Smith does not consider himself ineligible on that ground and yet he knows it's the only real argument advanced against him. His followers insist that the Democratic party must purge itself of bigotry and intolerance.
The Smith candidacy is a reluctant concession by the former New

LARGE BUTTERFLY MAKES APPEARANCE AT APPLETON HOME

What may be an early sign of spring made its appearance Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Van Caster at 125 N. Bennett-st. A large butterfly measuring six inches across the wings emerged from its large cocoon at the Van Caster home and started flying about the home. The cocoon was found in a plum tree in the rear of the Van Caster home early last fall and since that time has been kept in a window.

DENYES COLLECTION ON DISPLAY AT STORE

A number of curios collected in Borneo by Dr. J. R. Denyes of the Lawrence college faculty, formerly a missionary to the Far East, are now on display in the show window of the Hughes clothing store.
The collection includes a hand made head hunter's knife, a huge hat worn by the natives of this region, a native cloak woven from banana fiber, and a cane chair or seat which is carried by the native. There is also on display in the window a hand carved cane owned by J. R. MacLaughlin of Appleton. The cane was carved by an Indian chief of the Black Hills region, who used merely a pocket knife, and bits of glass in making the cane.
Dr. Denyes has devoted many years of his life to missionary work in the Far Eastern region and is an authority on native life and customs.

Gardens Will Have More Bloom By Using Annuals

Various cults and fads prevail in the gardening world from time to time which is due course of events resolve themselves into their proper perspective. One of these some twenty years ago was the campaign to banish annuals as the chief supply of garden decoration in favor of the more permanent material furnished by the hardy perennials. There was much point in the advocacy of the free use of perennials as the backbone of the garden but in abolishing the annuals in favor of perennials it was speedily discovered that it was impossible to maintain a continuous and lavish supply of bloom without an equal supply of annuals. They are the freest blooming of all garden material, the most quickly brought into bloom and most reliable for solid masses of color. Perennials, for the most part have brief seasons of bloom, not more than a month. Then their space offers nothing in the way of colors. They must be supplemented by annuals in liberal quantity.

Several guests of the high school faculty and the Y. M. C. A. will attend.

MISSING EVANSTON MAN SOUGHT HERE

Police here have been asked to make a special effort to locate John Hunton, 38, Evanston, Ill., who disappeared from that city early last August. Relatives believe he may be in Appleton or vicinity. Hunton's wife is seriously ill in Evanston and every effort is being made to locate the man. Hunton, who may seek banking or advertising work, is about six feet tall, weighs 155 pounds and is of slender build.

An entire garden of annuals will furnish much more bloom during the season than an entire garden of perennials, for the reason that there are so many more annuals of long blooming season than there are perennials. One need mention only marigolds, zinnias, and petunias which may be depended upon from July to killing frosts.
Annuals also are the mainstay for cutting. They should be grown in quantity not only for garden decoration but in reserve beds or rows for cutting. A mass of annuals designed for a garden decoration cannot be lavishly cut without weakening the garden display. In the reserve supply no such consideration enters. They are there to be cut and for no other purpose.
In the main garden, cutting should be reduced to removing fading flowers and preventing the formation of seed to keep up the supply of bloom. When an annual is allowed to go to seed its bloom lags its mission in life is to produce seed in one year after which it dies.
Annuals must be the main dependence for continuous bloom in the garden. The interest in annuals has been renewed as the knowledge of sound gardening becomes more widespread. They have once more taken the position of importance they deserve and every gardener now knows he cannot get along and have a bright garden all summer without them. Order liberal supplies of annual seed.

MAN WANTED HERE HELD IN CANADA

Send Sergeant Duval to Bring Lloyd Beckhan Back Here to Face Charges

Lloyd Beckhan, Manitowoc, is being held in London, Ontario, Canada on charges of embezzlement and passing worthless checks. Detective Sergeant John Duval left today for that city to bring him back here to answer the charge. Beckhan was arrested by police there when he was traced to that city from Appleton according to Police Chief George T. Finn. The warrants charge Beckhan with issuing a worthless check for $5 to the Central Motor Car company and two checks for $40 to the Variety man, Beckhan, formerly an employee of the Kalamazoo Store company, which has offices on W. Lawrence st., also is charged with being about $110 short in his accounts according to Chief Finn.

MANITOWOC FAIR TO ABOLISH HORSE RACES

Manitowoc—(P)—For the first time in the half century of its existence, the Manitowoc county fair in 1932 will have no horse races. The fair committee decided to eliminate races as an economy measure. Races are to be replaced by a rodeo and it is estimated that the change will save $250.

The Age of FAT Need No Longer Be Feared

Soon after 30, multitudes of people gain excess fat. Many at earlier ages. A great reason lies in a weakened gland, which largely controls nutrition. Food that should create fuel and energy goes to fat.
Since this discovery, doctors the world over feed this gland factor to the over-fat. Slender figures all around you are due to this method now.
In Tablet Form
Marmola prescription tablets present this new method in ideal form. A famous laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Those slender figures, now so common, are not due to starving.
Every box contains the formula. So users know, and doctors know, just how Marmola acts. You are taking in Marmola what the best physicians use.
Fight fat in this modern way. Combat the cause. Take Marmola—four tablets daily—until weight comes down to normal. As the fat goes, watch your vim come back. Then tell your friends what did it. Don't wait longer—start this right way now.

State Conservative Republicans Praise Hoover Regime

ASK CLEAR-CUT PARTY STAND ON PROHIBITION

Seven Delegates at Large Chosen for State at Milwaukee Meeting

Milwaukee.—(P)—Tactful endorsement of President Hoover's candidacy for re-election was given by Wisconsin conservative Republican leaders in conference here yesterday when they unanimously adopted a resolution pledging allegiance to the president.

Seven delegates at large to be presented to the electorate at the April primary were chosen but no effort was made to instruct them. Sentiment, however, favored the candidacy of President Hoover and both men and women speakers lauded his administration.

Those named to represent the state at the national convention in Chicago in June are: William Dougherty, Janesville; A. G. Glover, Fort Atkinson; Harry Deah, LaCrosse; Frank Schneller, Neenah; George W. Mead, Wisconsin Rapids; G. A. Bading, Milwaukee; and Alvin P. Kletsch, Milwaukee.

A resolution adopted by the conference urged Wisconsin's delegates to "use every honorable means to have included in the national Republican platform of 1932, a clear-cut declaration on the subject of prohibition and the eighteenth amendment, to the effect that the people of the United States be given the opportunity to express their opinion, divorced from all other political subjects, on the question of prohibition."

Laud Hoover Efforts
The policy of the national administration in regard to the prohibition question was upheld in a resolution which said: "President Hoover has resolutely maintained the dignity of a course dictated by sane principles of economics, never once stopping or stooping to the recognition of those unsound appeals made in sacrifice of fundamental principles."

Drastic reduction in what was termed the "excessive costs of state government that has increased over $1,000 per cent in the last 25 years," was urged in another resolution. Assemblyman Charles A. Budlong, Marinette, charged in an address before the conference that Progressive Republican leaders knew for a year before the Capital City bank of Madison was closed that the bank "was broke." He further charged that in April, 1931, there was on deposit in the bank $300,000 in state funds, although surety companies contend the state law did not permit a single cent to be handled more than $250,000 of state money at one time.

"I threatened to rock the dome of the capital several months ago," Budlong said, "I didn't rock it, I was called in by my friend and told that if I disclosed the facts it would break the Progressive party. I wonder if it would not be worth it to break the Progressive party. I am not telling where I got my information, I may have to disclose this in court."

A. E. Fontane of Green Bay, chairman of the conference, commented on State Treasurer Sol Levitan's refusal to discuss the Capital City bank situation.

District Delegates
District delegates chosen by the conservatives follow:

First district: Delegates to be named Feb. 12.

Third district: Ben Marcus, Muskego, and E. P. McFetridge, Baraboo.

Fourth district: Frank Wabiezewski, Milwaukee, and Congressman John C. Shafer, Milwaukee.

Sixth district: Charles Barnard, Ashkosh, and Assemblyman Fred Kres, Plymouth.

Seventh district: Dr. A. W. Christofferson, Waupaca, and Attorney John J. Okonski, Wausau.

Eighth district: Winford Johnson, Kiel, and C. C. Nelson, Appleton.

Ninth district: A. W. McLeod, Eau Claire, and F. L. Lampson, Cumberland.

Tenth district: C. M. Christiansen, Phelps, and Mrs. A. P. Nelson, Grantsburg.

ROHAN TO ADDRESS KIWANIS AT DINNER

"Life Guidance" is the topic of an address to be given by B. J. Rohan, superintendent of Appleton schools, at the weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Conway hotel Wednesday noon. Mr. Rohan has written several books on that subject, and will base parts of his address on material in his publications. This week's program was arranged by the vocational guidance committee of the club. Members of this committee are John Lonsdorf, C. C. Nelson, M. H. Small, Jay Williams and Charles Huesman.

LITTLE CHUTE TO BE HOST TO VALLEY GROUP

The Fox River Valley Municipalities league will meet at Little Chute at 6:30 Thursday evening. The engineer's report on the proposed valley metropolitan sewerage disposal district will be discussed. The meeting will be preceded by a "Dutch dinner" arranged by Anton Jansen, village president.

PROMOTION GROUP TO DISCUSS ADVERTISING

Methods of advertising Appleton through the media of special letter cards, signs and convention folders, will be discussed at a meeting of the promotion committee of the chamber of commerce in the chamber of commerce at 4:30 Thursday afternoon. H. Satterstrom is committee chairman.

In Danger Zone

Officials of the Southern Methodist Church expressed fear for the safety of Bishop Paul B. Kern, above, and his family, who are now in Shanghai, after the reported bombing of the Young-Allen mission there.

where petty merchants served soup and rice to the natives.

The young fellows seemed to be enjoying it, but the oldtimers who had served with the 31st in France and in Siberia were exercising the soldier's inalienable right to complain.

"What's it all about anyhow?" said one sergeant from Oklahoma, using more picturesque language than that.

His answer was a blast from the artillery firing across Chapel.

It seemed to give him a lot of satisfaction.

Eight shells dropped in the French concession tonight, injuring three Chinese women and causing some property damage. It was not known whether the projectiles were Chinese or Japanese.

Word from Amoy said the American destroyer Stewart had arrived from Canton, and a message from Nanking said all the British women and children there had been advised by their consuls to leave.

Japanese headquarters said they had instructed their commanders to avoid all causes for friction with American and other foreign troops, to maintain friendly relations and to be most careful for the safety of foreign civilians.

GREW NEW ENVOY

Washington.—(P)—Joseph C. Grew, a man whose 30 years of diplomatic service has taken him almost around the world, was named today to succeed W. Cameron Forbes as ambassador to Tokio.

The new ambassador will travel from his present post in Turkey to Japan to take over negotiations with that country at a time when they require more careful handling than at any time in recent history. He is 52 years old.

He will take to the task a diplomatic experience gained in Egypt, Mexico, Russia, Germany, Austria, Denmark, Switzerland, Turkey and as chief of the state department's division of western European affairs. He also attended the pre-Armistice negotiations at Versailles.

The time for Forbes' departure has not been named, although he wishes to retire as soon as possible.

His wishes were made known before the present difficulties between China and Japan broke out.

TWO CAGE GAMES AT ARMORY G TONIGHT

The Appleton Bears will show off a Badger State league basketball game tonight at Armory G against New London. The Bears won the first game from the team by a one point margin, 18 and 17. The Bears are in second place in the league with the Oshkosh Skolons on top. Versteegen and Kneip will start at forward for the Bears, Verbrick at center, and Lonsdorf and Grishaber at guard.

Co. D. tonight will play a non-league game with the Stacker Schmidt contingent team of Neenah, which has been beating all opposition.

GROUP TO DISCUSS CLUB CAMP PLANS

Gus Sell, county agent, and Miss Hattie Thompson, county home demonstration agent, will go to Waupaca, Friday, to attend an inter-county conference of county agents and club leaders at which plans for a 4-H camp for next summer will be discussed. Outagamie, Waupaca, Winnebago, Marquette and Waushara counties will be represented. Last year the five counties cooperated in the maintenance of a 4-H camp at Twin Lakes in Waushara co.

PLAN TO IMPROVE SYSTEM OF AWARDS

Plans were made to improve the system of awards for Appleton Girl Scouts at the meeting of the training and awards committee with Miss Alice Kirk, Chicago, regional director, Monday afternoon at the Woman's club.

Miss Kirk met with Girl Scout patrol leaders earlier in the afternoon, discussing responsibilities of scouts and their attitudes with them. The training and awards committee consists of Mrs. J. P. Frank, scout commissioner, and Mrs. L. C. Sleeper.

Camp committee members who discussed camp problems this morning were Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. William Rounds, Mrs. S. C. Shannon and Miss Dorothy Cahn, local director.

patient. There's a big responsibility in sending strange men into strange homes, and we want to have as little trouble as possible."

Ahead of Schedule

Telegrams informing the national commander of the legion, Henry L. Stevens, New York, and the state commander, Dr. C. A. Dawson, River Falls, of the success of the Appleton drive, were sent out this morning. Appleton is a week ahead of most other posts in the country and state. They started their initial drive yesterday.

All kinds and types of people were contacted by the veterans last night and by business men who helped make surveys. The stories they are telling today furnish a cross section of the manner in which they were received.

"The cordial spirit that prevailed in most homes struck the canvassers most," they reported. One canvasser reported in late and on inquiring what had happened to him, the veterans were told he was forced to eat two lunches and get warm at several places on his route and therefore was detained.

Another canvasser, a lawyer who surveyed his own block, was more than pleased to make the acquaintance of neighbors living behind him and whom he had never learned to know.

One Appleton man, only partially employed himself, offered 30 cents a week to "the man in the block" and suggested he could do the work for someone else. And then there was the opposite of that man—the one who, when the canvasser called, said he was in bed and didn't want to be aroused but who was sitting up reading, his feet on the living room table, when the canvasser happened to pass a few minutes later.

Several Appleton homes were reported to have come through 100 per cent. They pledged work for a man and a woman, and a modernization program, too.

Success Varies

Some workers met unusual success with their blocks, while others experienced disappointing failure. One worker visited 13 homes and secured pledges from 12. The man who didn't meet much success was the one who found dark houses on his first two calls, the next two were families whose heads had registered for work, a fifth family had no job to offer, and the sixth was a family receiving aid from the city.

The total number of unemployed now registered at the city hall is 718 men and women. Of this group it is estimated that about 200 would be out of work in normal times and that probably an additional 50 wouldn't stay more than a few days on any job.

Beginning tomorrow morning, all persons sent out on jobs by the legion employment office will carry identification cards. George C. Dame, general chairman of the drive said today. The credentials will bear the seal of the legion, and if a worker hasn't one, he hasn't been sent by the legion office. Reports are that some unemployed, unregistered persons are "hi-jacking" jobs by claiming to be from the legion office.

RAIN, SNOW, WARMER WEATHER PREDICTED

Probable rain changing to snow and mild temperatures will be the weather forecast meted out for the Appleton and vicinity for tonight and Wednesday.

Much milder weather with probable precipitation in the form of rain or snow has been predicted over most of the middlewest and upper lake regions for the next 24 hours. Mild winds are blowing from the southeast, a good indication that spring weather will prevail.

At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 27 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 35 degrees.

40 AUTO DEALERS ATTEND ZONE MEET

Approximately 40 Oakland-Pontiac automobile dealers from throughout this section of the state attended a meeting here at Conway hotel today to hear addresses on sales and service problems given by representatives of the zone office from Chicago, Ill. A dinner was served at the hotel this noon. The meeting was arranged by O. R. Klech of this city.

Among the zone officers who attended the meeting were: W. L. Pavlovski, manager; Frank J. Biron, assistant zone manager; E. W. Lyons, service manager; N. A. Walters, accounting manager; P. A. Cunningham, assistant service manager; and Kenneth Lawrence and Robert Bigler, territorial representatives.

Drunk Is Jailed

Frank Rowolski, 112 S. Badger, was given a choice of paying a fine of $5 and costs or spending two days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning of drunkenness. Rowolski was arrested yesterday by Officer Fred Arndt. He did not pay the fine.

ALLOW BILLS

The county highway committee met at the courthouse yesterday afternoon. Bills were allowed.

Throngs Join Rex At Yearly Mardi Gras In New Orleans

New Orleans.—(P)—A precious talent for forgetting trouble and care in massed and joining in make-believe revels is the whole city, joined by thousands of winter visitors, celebrated Mardi Gras—theoretically the last good time before Lent.

General masking and dancing in the streets was the order of the day with willing subjects bowing to the command of Rex, ruler of the carnival, that happiness should reign supreme.

Gold was borne into the city on a red-leafed horse, heading 20 floats that moved through jammed streets in one of the most dazzling street pageants he has ever presented.

Celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of his first parade, Rex chose "The Scrap Book" as his theme, retelling in miniature the stories which his organization has presented in moving tableaux over more than half a century.

Directly behind his throng, a glittering float manned by satin-costumed maskers, recreated the theme of the first Rex parade of 1872, when the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia was a special guest of the New Orleans carnival. The float showed a gigantic bull surrounded by butchers with knives, recalling that Rex's parade was once traditionally led by a real "bouef gras"—fat ox—symbolizing a final big meal before the Lenten fast. The imaginative themes of other years followed.

King Caractacus, a lesser monarch of the carnival, followed Rex in a parade of floats based on continental mythology. A half dozen other smaller processions kept spectators on the jump to avoid missing anything.

Rex was impersonated by A. B. Freeman, prominent business man, and on swinging into Canal-st. he halted his float at Boston club to raise his glass to Miss Yvonne White, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. White, who was designated as queen of the 1932 festival.

In the Negro section of the city, King Zulu, traditional carnival ruler of his race, impersonated this year by a leading Negro undertaker, arrived in pomp on a tug boat and headed a parade of bizarre floats decorated in jungle style.

Proteus paved the way for Rex's arrival last night with a glittering procession of floats recreating favorite poetry. Tonight Comus, leader of the last torchlight procession through the streets.

Carnival will end at midnight when the courts of Rex and Comus meet at the Comus ball and the two rulers exchange queens for the last measure before 12 o'clock rings in Lent.

CHIROPRACTIC CASE REVERSED BY COURT

Services Not to Be Paid for Under Compensation Act, Is Ruling

Madison.—(P)—Services rendered by a chiropractor are not the kind of medical services contemplated under the Workmen's Compensation act and cannot be included in a claim for compensation, the state supreme court ruled today in a case from Green Bay.

The court reversed Circuit Judge A. G. Zimmerman of Dane co. who held that the industrial commission erred in not allowing a charge for chiropractic services submitted by Henry Corlsen, Green Bay city fireman when he filed a claim for compensation for injuries suffered in the line of duty.

The high court said that Judge Zimmerman based his reversal upon the idea that chiropractors give medical treatment as that term is defined in the statutes under "treatment of the sick."

"While it is true that according to Chapter 147 chiropractors do treat the sick and that their treatment is 'medical treatment,' it does not necessarily follow from this that it is such medical treatment as the compensation act contemplates," said an opinion written by Justice Chester A. Fowler.

"We are of the opinion that under the act that only medical treatment contemplated is medical treatment administered by physicians and we are of the opinion that a chiropractor is not a physician as that term is used in the act."

The opinion pointed out that the statute does not include Christian Science treatment as medical treatment, although it constitutes administering to the sick.

The appeal to the supreme court was taken jointly by the industrial commission and the city of Green Bay.

"Y" DIRECTORS PLAN BUILDING REPAIRS

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening at the association building. They will discuss repairs and improvements being made about the building. The religious work committee of the association met Monday night and made preliminary plans for Lenten shop meetings during Holy week.

PAPERS FILED FOR ALDERMAN THOMPSON

Nomination papers for C. D. Thompson were filed with Carl Becher, city clerk, Tuesday. Mr. Thompson, the incumbent for the Second ward, is running for reelection this spring.

Papers are being circulated for John Behnke, member of the school board.

EXPECT 150 BATTERY MEN AT MEETING HERE

Approximately 150 Willard battery service men from throughout Wisconsin are expected to attend an all day meeting here Wednesday at Conway hotel. Various problems confronting battery dealers are to be discussed. The meeting is being arranged by George Schwab of the Gibson Tire and Battery Co.

Building Permits

One building permit was issued Monday by John N. Weiland, building inspector. It was granted to Louis Leifson, 220 N. Richmond-st., remodel building, cost $300.

BIRTHS

A son was born Jan. 27 to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lemke, route 2, Kaukauna. Mrs. Lemke was formerly Miss Lovella Zich, DePere. A daughter was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zelle, 1806 S. Lawest, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

ACT ON AID REQUESTS

Applications for old age pensions will be acted on by the county board committee on poor relief at a meeting at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon. Anton Jansen, Little Chute, is chairman of the committee.

REYNOLDS IN CONFERENCE ON BOND DISPUTE

No Statement Made on Liability of Levitan in Madison Case

Milwaukee.—(P)—After an all-day conference here with surety company attorneys, Attorney General John W. Reynolds departed last night without discussing the contention of the surety firms that State Treasurer Sol Levitan is personally responsible for state funds which were in the Capital City bank of Madison when it closed.

The surety companies announced through attorneys that they will not make good any losses in state deposits because they hold, sums in excess of that allowed by law were placed in the bank.

Mr. Reynolds issued a statement which did not touch on the question of liability. The statement follows: "The state holds bonds of two of the largest surety companies for $500,000 which fully cover the $309,286.60 deposited by the state in the Capital City bank at the time it closed on Nov. 10, 1931. A part of these deposits consisted of interest coupons for $73,810 deposited with the bank for collection. Of this amount, about $50,000 had been collected when the bank closed, leaving about $14,000 in uncollected coupons."

"The state has asserted a preferred claim against the bank for $74,000, the entire amount of the coupons, and the question is raised as to whether this should be included in the claim against the surety companies."

"A question is also raised by the surety companies whether the excess in the deposit over $250,000 should be made a preferred claim against the bank."

"No such claim has yet been filed with the commissioner of banking. Claims against the Capital City bank must be filed by Feb. 20 and conferences have been had between the attorney general's department and representatives of the surety companies with regard to the most satisfactory and speedy method of handling these claims so as to protect fully the interest of the state and the depositors."

The discussions also included the possibility of securing the largest possible dividends through a reorganization or liquidation of the bank."

ECUADOR DECIDES TO DROP GOLD STANDARD

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—(P)—Ecuador abandoned the gold standard today. The suspension will be effective until next Nov. 10.

Exporters will be obliged to pay export duties in gold and these collections the government will deposit in the Central bank. Moneys for payment of the foreign debt also will be deposited in the bank, which will lend the government money at 3 per cent interest for expenditure on public works, partial payment of the internal debt and establishment of a national farm bureau.

MOVES TO WASHINGTON

Neenah.—(P)—James C. Kimberley, president of the Neenah Paper Co., has moved to Washington, D. C. A telegram from him at Tyron, N. C., this noon indicated he has established permanent residence there: "Have taken up residence in Washington, D. C., as I preferred it to Wisconsin."

Mrs. Clara Swartzel and Charles Schuh, Milwaukee, are visiting their mother, Mrs. John Schuh, 921 N. Appleton-st., who is seriously ill at her home.

Miss Lillian Herrman is ill at her home.

CITY OFFICIALS VOTE TO REDUCE THEIR SALARIES

A resolution suggesting a voluntary cut in salaries equal to that of the decrease proposed by the council was unanimously adopted at a meeting of city officials at city hall Monday afternoon. The offer provides that the reduction, to become effective May 1, will continue as long as the present emergency exists, and then salaries are to return to their present status. The finance committee is to decide when normal conditions have returned, and the reduction is no longer necessary.

The proposal will be drawn up by a committee made up of A. C. Bosser, city attorney, F. E. Bachman, treasurer, and Carl Becher, clerk. Mr. Bosser was named chairman of yesterday's meeting.

The meeting of officials was pre-empted by the council meeting last Wednesday, when an ordinance proposing a reduction in the salaries of most city officials was introduced. The proposed ordinance will be considered by the ordinance committee some time this week, and be up for final vote of the council at an adjourned meeting next Monday.

DINNER DANCE FOR JOURNALISTIC BODY

Talk on "Living Leadership" Is Given by Everett Kircher

Everett Kircher, representing the faculty and sponsors of high school publications, presented an inspirational talk on "Living Leadership" at the dinner dance of Quill and Scroll, national honorary journalistic organization, Monday evening at Conway hotel. Thirty three alumni, active and new members attended the dinner, which is the first of the series of annual parties.

Mr. Kircher pointed out that a person's experience and his habits determine what he really is in his talk. Wilmer Stach, president of the high school organization, was the toastmaster for the evening.

Two new members were inducted into the group under Mr. Kircher, namely Ruth Lutz and Harvey Wolfgram. Faculty members present included Mr. Kircher, Miss Esther Graef, sponsors for the high school yearbook, the Clarion; Miss Borghild Anderson and Miss Ruth Saecker, sponsors for the newspaper, the Talleman; Kenneth Laird, Quill and Scroll sponsor and Miss Ruth Lean, former faculty sponsor.

BIGGER DEMAND FOR AUTOS AT CHICAGO SHOW

Earlier Experience of New York Also Reflected in Windy City

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1932, by Cons. Press Chicago—(CPA)—The earlier experience of the New York automobile show in revealing an improved buyer demand for cars, now is confirmed by the results of the Chicago show.

Actual sales of new models are reported to be 55 per cent ahead of a year ago and over 30 per cent ahead of the sales at the New York show this year. This outcome is better than the most sanguine had expected, but still it is not broad enough to assure that new car registrations will surpass those of 1931.

The industry has concluded that its chief job now is to overcome a popular attitude which makes niggardliness fashionable. Its leaders believe that helpfulness will lie in President Hoover's proposed drive to get hoarded money back into circulation. Automobile men want to convince the people with jobs that their dollars can do the most good for everyone when invested in a new car.

There also are indications that the automobile industry is becoming concerned over the public reaction toward increased slaughter on the streets and highways. The huge total of 34,000 killed and over a half million injured in car accidents during 1931 has caused a shock.

"We cannot close our eyes to the fact that many people are being killed in automobile accidents," spokesmen for some of the large companies said today. "We must make our vehicles as safe as possible and then give aggressive support to agencies that are trying to improve our streets and highways and to educate the public in careful driving."

But the chief attention of manufacturing and distributing companies at the moment is directed toward breaking down the attitude of mind which makes it fashionable to be parsimonious.

"Something will have to be done to make the public realize that ownership of a new car is a badge of courage, an evidence of confidence in the country's industrial machine," the automobile men say.

"Money hoarded is doing no one any good, and if the fears which hoarders possess are realized then their money will be of no avail. Invested in a car the funds not only would be put to work but would provide satisfaction for the owner."

The interstate merchants council meeting here this week, with representatives of 7,200 establishments in attendance, initiated a country-wide movement to discourage hysteria and to rebuild public morale. The merchants pledged themselves to organize in each of their communities, the machinery for a drive to convince the public of the soundness of their institutions.

SLEUTH SLAIN, ANOTHER WOUNDED BY BANDITS

Kansas City—(AP)—O. E. Carpenter, a detective, was killed, and Ed Young, another detective, was wounded, early Monday by bandits they surprised apparently preparing to rob the Mercantile Trust company. The bandits escaped.

The detectives, in a police car, drove past the trust company, 14th and Grand, shortly after 6 o'clock. They found the bandits had captured the janitor. As the detectives approached they were met by gunfire.

Police theorized the bandits planned to hold the janitor and all other employees who arrived until the time lock on the vault opened.

SEN. NORRIS THINKS SMITH'S STAND MAY DEFEAT HIS PARTY

Memphis, Tenn. —(AP)—Senator George W. Norris Republican independent leader of Nebraska, predicted here Monday that the Democratic party will "make a damn fool of itself," and said Alfred E. Smith's statement regarding the presidential nomination was the beginning of what may be the party's defeat in an otherwise "clinch" election.

He passed through Memphis on his way back to Washington from Representative Quinn's funeral in Mississippi.

"The Democratic party has a remarkable record for making a damn fool of its self at a crucial time when it has the world by the tail and a downhill pull," he said. "It is expected to repeat its usual performance," he added, as he pointed to Governor Smith's statement. "This is truly a Democratic year and the election would be a cinch for the Democrats if they could be harmonious."

He said President Hoover would be the Republican nominee, but added "it ought to be Hiram Johnson, Senator Borah or Governor Pinchot, or somebody like that."

EFFORTS AT RECONCILIATION
The years immediately preceding the outbreak of the American Revolution were like the prelude of a mighty and elaborate opera, with slight though distinct tones at the outset slowly following each other and becoming louder, bolder and more pronounced and determined until they broke forth into the deafening crash and roar of arms.
Even a year before the Declaration of Independence was signed, even after the Boston Massacre and the battles of Lexington and Concord, there was no well formed public opinion in the colonies to cut forever the ties that bound them to Great Britain.
The colonists were warmly attached to the mother country. Every real and imaginary reason arising from ties of blood, affection and long usage and custom, held them to England. Such bonds are not easily broken. A people will bear much of misery, injustice and insult before permitting themselves to be provoked to rebellion. They will consider that they might be in error. They will assume that differences of opinion are natural and honest. But when, over a long period of years, they have been steadily and steadfastly deprived of the commonest rights of free men the conviction becomes forced that the one denying them had concerned himself only with a studied policy of personal indifference and virtual enslavement.
In 1775 Thomas Jefferson wrote:
"There is not in the British Empire a man who more cordially loves a union with Great Britain than I do; but, by the God that made me, I will cease to exist before I yield to a connection on such terms as the British parliament propose."
Later on George Washington wrote:
"From their form of government and steady attachment heretofore to royalty, my countrymen will come reluctantly into the idea of independence, but time and persecution bring wonderful things to pass."
It is interesting to read, as the bi-centennial of Washington's birth approaches, of the moderation, the slowness to anger, the willingness to compromise that actuated the colonists. In July, 1775, they addressed an appeal to the English king which has become known as the last "Olive Branch." It beguiled him "as the loving father of his whole people." It expressed an affectionate attachment for the throne. It stated that the colonists would never resign that attachment "to any body of men upon earth."
It is curious to ascertain what became of that petition. The king not only refused to read it, he refused even to receive it. The touch of the rude document might have soiled the velvety whiteness of his slim and royal hand.
His minister declared: "The king and his cabinet are determined to listen to nothing from the illegal congress, to treat with the colonies only one by one, and in no event to recognize them in any form of association." He also, declared Lord North, "showed a determination to force the deluded Americans into submission." As the king did not receive the petition there could be no answer to it. And yet the colonists did not fly quickly to arms. They abhorred warfare and bloodshed. They realized that time is a great peacemaker and sometimes softens edicts. They were willing to put up with abuse and intolerance rather than take the final and fatal step. Although, like the practical men that they were, they steadily armed for the conflict they feared could not be avoided.
It may be observable in reviewing the history of all people that those who act with great moderation and always attempt to avoid a conflict are the most terrible when aroused. And so it proved to be in America.
It would be interesting to know what would have happened in these colonies had the king of England a little of that quality so rare on thrones, a sense of humor and proportion, and received and answered the petition.
Perhaps as much as anything else the Revolution was brought on by a denial of the right so deeply buried in every human breast, to be heard, to discuss complaints and grievances, to state a case instead of meeting with a slammed door.

Did the wrongs weigh as heavily upon the people as the insolence of a king which even refused to receive a communication from their hands? The sharpest sting perhaps arose from denying them the right to be heard. One who will not communicate with another might as well have a heart of stone as he had a head of ivory.
How deeply the right to be heard runs through the human fabric none can ever fathom. How essential it is to surround that right with every respect and safeguard none can over-estimate.
PAYING WAR DEBTS WITH COLONIES
In many quarters there persists the proposal that Great Britain and France liquidate their debts to the United States by ceding certain of their American colonial possessions to this country. If they cannot pay in cash, why not hand over some of their real estate?
Great Britain has extensive possessions in the western hemisphere. These comprise some four hundred islands and the mainland colonies of British Honduras and British Guiana to the extent of 110,000 square miles. The possessions of France are a little less than a third of England's in area, her principal colony being French Guiana in South America.
All suggestions of territorial transfers in settlement of war debts have been received with indignation by the English and French, the attitude being that peoples shall not be bartered about like chattels. Yet England and France had no such compunction in taking over the German colonies assigned to them by the Versailles Treaty in 1919. They forget, perhaps, the manner in which these possessions came under their flags.
As one editor impatiently expresses it: "These possessions have been tossed about as the spoils of war ever since their discovery. They have been conquered, looted, swapped, thrown in for good measure, and in every way been the pawns of empire."
Here is an opportunity for bargaining if France and England honestly desire to pay their debts, as they do. There is plenty of precedent to warrant the exchange of these territories in honorable payment of accounts without assuming the proposals to be tainted with greed or inhumanity.
MR. SMITH'S STATEMENT
The statement the country received from Alfred E. Smith concerning his possible candidacy for the presidency was frank and direct. Judged by the past it could have expected a statement of no other color. The ex-governor of New York has never been known as a pussyfoot.
What effect his possible candidacy may have, time, so secret in its manifestations, alone can tell.
Perhaps Mr. Smith has among the Democratic brethren warmer and more determined friends than any other candidate mentioned. It is not unlikely too that he has as persevering political enemies. The two often go together.
Probably too the uncertainty of result that his candidacy makes clear is better for the party. The timid will shrink from dissension. Wiser heads will realize that a contest makes for strength.
HOARDING
The President's recent call of a national conference of civic leaders to help unloosen the huge pile of unproductive money in this country that has been taken out of circulation by frightened people must receive a strong and ready response.
The estimate of $1,300,000,000 withdrawn from circulation is unquestionably based upon sound information.
Most of this has been withdrawn thoughtlessly. Few people reckon how their acts may, when spread broadcast, throw out of kilter the somewhat delicate machinery upon which all the commercial transactions of the country rest.
Were they to stop and consider what would happen if every person followed their example they might be startled to see every factory in the country closed and all normal business transactions at an end.
Bringing these facts to the people should arouse, not only their patriotism, but their dormant intelligence.

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT
A S LONG as we can continue to get news and plenty of it from China, the United States will probably stay out of active scrapping... but, if the cables are chopped or the reporters are put in jail by the Japanese, the chances are that we'll simply have to fight... American curiosity is a terrific thing and it has to be satisfied... of course, not one out of ten people can give you a clear idea of just what is happening, but just try to keep 'em from seeing the headlines and knowing that a war is in progress... an American will fight for his rights—even if he doesn't ever use 'em—if someone tries to take 'em away from him...
"Find Commission Merchant Overcome by Auto Fumes" (headline.) And daily we expect to hear of somebody overcome by the pep talk of an auto salesman orating on the new models.
Letters Like This Make Us Anxious to See the Mallinam
Dear Jonah:
Do you know:
That I get a kick out of people who try to hit me? That I like Appleton better than any other town I've ever traveled in and I've made some hundreds and hundreds of towns in nearly every state? That Northern Michigan depresses me and still I make it my first trip beginning the New Year? And enjoy it more in the summer than any other state?
That Appleton is disliked by peddlers and I can tell you why? That Eau Claire is the hardest town to get a drink and Appleton the easiest, bar none? All Iowa towns are more friendly and still it's a rotten state to drink in? That my first spiced drink was in Iowa? And me born in Chicago with saloons all around and still pay pre-war prices for rotten liquor in that town and I'm supposed to know people?
That I dislike Appleton traffic cops and admire Minneapolis and Detroit cops for their courtesy to strangers from which our cops could take a good lesson? That everybody remembers Appleton who passes through? That Stevens Point is disliked by all peddlers because it seems to be a Jonah town (EDITOR'S NOTE—HUH!) for all of us and is hickish in its ways?
That the Fox River Valley is called the salesman's paradise? And even our bosses brag about how lucky we are?
Do you know why you're reading this and why I'm not in bed?
So long,
—Dee Jay Cee...
You've been reading about the crack-ups in the bob-sled troyits at the Olympic games at Lake Placid and all that. Well, something very embarrassing has happened. Embarrassing to the bob-sled professional athletes. Some bob-sled manufacturer loaded four sandbags on a sled and sent it down the "treacherous" run and the darned thing made all the turns without a mishap and ended up at the bottom in good shape, untouched by human hands. Which must be very bad for the expert bob-sled drivers who are continually having accidents.

SUPPER'S READY
Supper's ready! There's the call I delight in most of all! With the evening settling down, Everybody home from town, Tired and hungry, but content With the way the day was spent Waiting patient as can be Mother's cry: "Come on to tea!"
Supper's ready! One and all Hurry gladly down the hall, And with smiles upon their faces At the table take their places. Here's a summer girl and boy, Not to labor, but to joy, Not to do and dare and die, But to bread and meat and pie!
Supper's ready! Do you hear? Loved ones come and gather near, Put away your petty cares, To the table draw your chairs. Now the busy day is done, Let's be merry every one, And be grateful to the Lord For the food upon the board. (Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest)

To celebrate the silver jubilee of the Eastern Star lodge in Appleton, the lodge was to entertain all chapter members and past matrons at supper and a meeting the following Wednesday night.
Mr. and Mrs. George Sweetman entertained a number of friends at their home, 306 Atlantic at the previous Saturday evening.

Personal Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THE NATURE OF ASTHMA
Difficult breathing, short-windedness and wheezing occur in various cases of chronic bronchitis, heart disease and kidney disease. In chronic bronchitis with emphysema (over-distended or dilated air-cells in the lungs) the patient constantly wheezes and has labored breathing on the slightest exertion. In any form of heart disease when the heart muscle becomes too exhausted or weakened to maintain circulation through the lungs, there is manifest difficulty of breathing of shortness of breath. In certain cases of chronic nephritis (Bright's disease) with uremia, difficult breathing is a serious symptom.
None of these breathing difficulties is asthma. Physicians refer to such disturbance of breathing as dyspnoea, which means just that, difficult or labored breathing. Old timers sometimes used such confusing terms as renal or cardiac "asthma" when they spoke of this difficulty of breathing in cases of kidney or heart disease. That was only one of the many crudities and errors handed down by old time physicians to the present day laity—so you see how you folks get that way. Remember, it is only within the past few years that there has been even a moderate demand—demand? I should say tolerance—shown by the public for efforts to educate enlighten them in matters pertaining to health. Even the intelligent in Yankee land are and always have been wiseacres about such matters. Only quacks could tell them anything, and they told them principally things which were not so, as a good business proposition.
True asthma, bronchial or spasmodic asthma, is not due to heart, kidney, lung or other organic disease. It is a functional derangement occurring in periodic seizures or attacks, like epilepsy or migraine, the attacks lasting for hours or days and then passing. The most searching examination of the patient or of the chest in the interval between attacks fails to elicit any abnormality. One may be subject to severe asthma, yet in the interval present no sign or symptom by which a physician may discover the ailment.
In most cases of long endured or neglected asthma the victims suffer with various complications which, of course, persist between attacks. But even so, a physician can diagnose asthma only when he examines the patient in the course of the seizure. In this respect it is comparable with epilepsy. True, the good detective may note little clues which arouse suspicion in respect to either asthma or epilepsy, but he can't be certain till he catches the malady in the act.
The important cause, if not the sole cause, of true asthma in child or adult is specific sensitivity—don't run away, we'll translate it into words of one syllable right away—specific sensitivity to some protein substance which is absorbed or enters the body via some other route than normal digestion and acting as a poison excites the typical reaction called asthma. In some persons this reaction takes the form of hives instead of asthma. In very young infants it manifests itself perhaps as a violent digestive upheaval.
Everybody has heard of the peculiar individual who becomes extremely distressed if a cat enters the room unnoticed. Well, some persons are specifically sensitized to cat hair or dander, and not just cranks.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

A S Scouty reached his natural size, wee Coppy said, "I realize how small we've been, and now I'm very anxious to be big. Oh Mister Giant, please make me as large as Scouty is. Then, gee, I know I'll be so happy that I'll dance a little jig."
The giant laughed and said, "Well, son, I must admit it is fun to make you Tynmites feel real good, but you must wait your turn. Young Duney shouted, 'Next!' and so right now I'm going to make him grow. The knock of being patient is one thing you ought to learn."
And then fat Duney ran up to the glass. The next thing that he knew, he'd grown to almost twice his size. "My, I feel queer," said he. "I know that I was once real small, but now I know I'm not at all. Instead, it makes me happy that I'm big as big can be."
Then, next came Coppy. He grew fast. When Windy stepped up, as the last, the others shouted, "Hurry up! Then we'll all be alike. This being big will make us strong and we won't hang around here long. I know we'll have enough strength to start off on quite a hike."
"All right, I'm ready," Windy cried. "Gee, I'm too large to ever hide. And, look at Mister Giant. He's no giant any more. You see, we are so big that he looks just the size he ought to be. We owe him much, so let's give him a loud and snappy roar."
This made the friendly giant grin. Then on his cue there broke a din. All of the happy Tynmites now were shouting, "Hip, huray!" Then, as their little voices died, brave Scouty very loudly cried, "If we are going to hike along, come, let's be on our way!"

In the preamble of the treaty the Ukrainian Republic declared its desire to "take the first step toward a lasting world's peace, honorable to all parties, which shall not only put an end to the horrors of war, but also lead to the restoration of friendly relations of the people in political, social, economic and intellectual realms."

Seen And Heard In New York
BY WILLIAM GAINES
New York — When a man who writes his first book at the age of 60 is deluged with requests to lecture about it before it even comes from the presses, you may be sure there'll be an inquisitive audience. In New York.
So it was that several hundred New Yorkers went to the Art Center a few days ago, to hear a Cape Codder tell his story.
Until a year ago, Frank W. Chipman of Sandwich, Mass., had no thought of writing a book, nor had there been any great urge for him to mount the lecture platform.
He had been content to be the proprietor of a small antique shop and in that capacity to sit back and answer the questions that came from collectors year in and year out, regarding Sandwich glass.
One day Thornton Burgess, the author and an old friend, exhorted him to put all of his knowledge of the subject into a book.
Mr. Chipman reflected. He was the son and grandson of men who actually had made Sandwich glass, which no one can make any more. There was no book on the subject. To be sure. So he resolved to get out a privately printed edition.
Then the word went out.
By the time Chipman had his work ready for the printer, he had received requests for copies from more than 200 libraries, including the public library here, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.
He has turned down 33 of the lecture invitations. His first edition was almost entirely subscribed for before it came out of the bindery.
Pardon My Blush
"Dear Mr. Gaines," one of our hotly-titled opticians salutes me (or rather, I should say his most flattering press agent, who probably saluted everybody else in town, individually).
"Whenever you appear in public, someone is likely to say, 'There's William Gaines.' Then people begin to look at you (and me so bashful, too)."
"Sometimes you wonder why people are so curious, but you really know the answer (Yes, but I can't print it). When one becomes as well known as you are, people want to see what you look like, what you do (gosh), and what you wear."
"Had it ever occurred to you that if you wear glasses (Oh, distinction! It is well known, why the IFs, they are about the first thing people notice when they look at you? Won't you read this booklet about what's new in glasses? Then, if you will drop in, I would like to show you how much they improve your appearance."
And with that last crack, sir, you may go sit on a cactus.
"True, I know a number of persons who wear glasses with distinction—but me—sir! In my case, it never before has been suggested that what nature hath wrought could be improved by any manner of masquerade."
Hale, Columbus
George Hale, busy coach of dance routines and discoverer of individual talent, is credited with bouncing from one romance to another about as frequently as any man in town these days.
Every time he trains a chorus, which means one right after another, he has what is called a "bevy of beauties" in hand. George says if he happens to give a backward pupil a bit of special attention, another romance is whispered.
Barbs
Nevertheless, the Austrian archduke who was challenged to four duels was lucky. In America he would have got a couple of black eyes.
Business should take a tip from Jack Dempsey. Although he looked pretty bad several years ago, he's still convincing people he's coming back.
The main trouble with automobile courtesy week is it's so much trouble getting back into the old swing the following week.
Pierre Laval of France quit one job and got two. But for once France probably will not kick about being two-timed.
Chicago is facing financial ruin. It will probably never forgive the government for jacking up Al Capone.
Cocoa is becoming more popular in Germany than beer. Seems that Germans are becoming cocoa nuts.
And, although they spend a lot of money on their faces, hereafter they'll have to spend a little more to top it off.

ARMS PARLEY OUTCOME VITAL TO CANADIANS

Business of Dominion Dependent on Peace Move,
British Tariff Plans

Copyright, 1932, By Cons. Press
Toronto —(CPA)— While the financial affairs of the whole world depend to a great extent upon events in the east and upon results of the disarmament conference, Canada's commercial prosperity hangs in very marked degree also upon the deliberations of two local legislative bodies.

If the powers at Geneva should agree on disarmament it is felt that this continent should soon respond commercially to the consequent assurance of peace. If, in addition, the imperial parliament at Westminster should decide upon a three-degree system of tariffs, similar to that of Canada itself, the success then of the imperial trade conference at Ottawa in July is fairly well assured. If Great Britain can make different trade arrangements with the various nations according to the privileges granted to her goods it should, consequently, be possible for her to secure markets for all her surplus products.

Canada is at present conducting a survey of the various commodities that it could economically agree to take from the mother country. If this country can therefore agree to buy its supplies of cotton, coal and steel from other parts of the British empire, a market for Canadian agriculture and animal products, and livestock is automatically assured.

See Fight
But unless Canada can offer a sufficiently attractive quid pro quo, such towns as Manchester, Birmingham and Sheffield may be expected to put up a stiff fight against the free admission of Canadian wheat to the British Isles.

The Canadian parliament has on its agenda such matters as the tariff, and preparations for the trade conference, as well as its railway problems, the Beauharnois Power Co., and the possible agreement to undertake in conjunction with the United States in the near future the development of water power in the international stretch of the St. Lawrence river. It is expected that the two railway systems will still be allowed to continue as separate companies, while uniting, for the sake of economy, in various services to the public. The Beauharnois Power Co., will probably undergo thorough reorganization, a measure presaged by the new directorate appointed this week at the urgent demand of the banks that have lent money for this development.

It is not wholly unlikely that the opposition of the Quebec members, of both political parties, may result in a delay, or any canalization of the St. Lawrence until Canada is in actual need of the power to be utilized and is also in a financial position to warrant the expenditure of the huge sum of money necessary for such undertakings.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

His Life Story

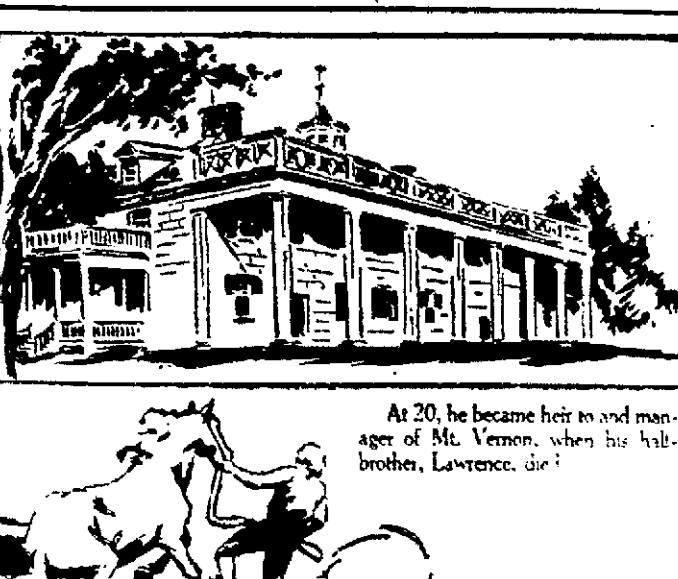

Indians fired on Washington at 15 paces when he was on a surveying trip into the wilderness.

He was elected to the House of Burgesses, Virginia legisla-tive body, in 1758.

At 20, he became heir to and man-ager of Mt. Vernon, when his half-brother, Lawrence, died.

After the death of his father when George was 11, he went to live with his half-brother, Lawrence, at Hunting Creek, now called Mt. Vernon, on the Potomac.

Lawrence was a gentleman of fashion, married to the daughter of the wealthy and socially prominent William Fairfax.

Turning to surveying as a profession, George made many trips into the western wilderness which taught him resourcefulness and endurance and toughened his char-acter.

He shared log cabins with pioneers, ate bear meat and corn mush, swam rivers, followed deer trails and encoun-tered Indians who fired upon him at 15 paces, but missed.

He contracted smallpox while on a trip to the island of Barbados with Lawrence, and this left his face perma-nently pitted.

When Lawrence died in 1752, George became heir to and manager of Mt. Vernon. Life there formed the back-ground of his existence for the next two decades.

He was known as a "hail fellow, well met" and excelled in all outdoor sports, from wrestling to horse-breaking. His routine was interrupted for several weeks every year by attendance to the Virginia House of Burgesses, a leg-islative body to which he was elected in 1758.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

Copyright, 1932, By Cons. Press

New York —(CPA)— Dr. Godfrey

Dewey, president of the third Olympic winter games committee, likes hob-nobbing some but he likes spelling more. He is the American spelling king—spelling being primarily a winter sport, of course—and out of this preoccupation grew the great

Lake Placid club, where gather the he-men and ski-men—note the phonetic upset, even here—and the fact is that this particular ski and skate circus came from Dr. Dewey's passion for simplified spelling. Showing how one thing leads to another.

When he was a young lad, Godfrey Dewey coasted into this little poem:

"Though the rough cough and hic-cough plough me through,
I ought to rub four horse's hough for you."

He figured each word could be pronounced eight different ways, and, hence, there were 16,777,216 ways of reading the sentence, with only one of them right. Then he discovered that the word "foolish" could be spelled "pfooghthlaphse," as in the words sapphire, through, hustle and phsaw. This was too much.

He and his father, a pioneer in the international simplified spelling movement, founded the Lake Placid club as an educational institution.

Graduating from Harvard in 1909, he visited Geneva with his father and, finally with sports and spelling propaganda over-lapping the Lake Placid curricula, came to include international ski-jumping as well as letter jumping. Andrew Carnegie, in 1908 provided an endowment for the simplified spelling board, of which Dr.

Godfrey is secretary. He is now vice-president of the Lake Placid club. In 1927, he issued his major opus, in which he maintained that the use of his phonetic alphabet of 41 characters would save the country $1,000,000,000 a year in pens, pencils, paper, ink and school teachers' salaries.

Just fancy a great composer who likes to turn the knob of a door with his foot! Who makes publishers angry by smuggling culinary and baseball symbols into his scores!
Such eccentricities have not in the least slowed down Percy Grainger, the mattress-haired, bucko boy of music who becomes head of the University College of Fine Arts. "Stir to a proper consistency," or "the bassoons get an assist on this," is quite apt to hob up in any of his scores.
The publishers usually translate it into claspé Italian, but sometimes
Mr. Grainger makes them let it ride.

Mr. Grainger bounced into this country from Australia 17 years ago.

He was an only child, born in Melbourne in 1882 and taught by his mother. He took the salons with a roaring gusto. He was always on the run—and still is—and hates elevators and automobiles. He skips up and down skyscrapers and trundles his luggage in a wheelbarrow when he moves. He has a passion for eating alone. Dining out, he asks his hostess for a plate and withdraws to the kitchen. He is a brilliant and rapid-fire talker and everybody likes him. His eccentricities are entirely unstudied and one may take them or leave them.

When he married Elsa Strom, beautiful young Swedish painter, in 1918, the ceremony was performed in the Hollywood bowl, in the presence of 22,000 persons, with a great cross blazing on a mountain top. For the occasion, he composed and conducted "To a Nordic Princess." Never in his life has he tasted coffee, tea, meat or alcohol.

When the Countess Margit von Bethlen produced her first play,
"The Gray Dress," in Budapest five years ago, she probably did not hear the off-stage whispers in which the fates were reordering her life. It was her night of triumph and there was a grand dinner afterward, with a gold and plush chair for her husband, Count Stephen Bethlen, famous Hungarian statesman. The dinner progressed, but the gold chair remained vacant. The count had disapproved of her playwriting. There was a divorce.

In New York, Sunday, the countess was ordained an elder in the first Magyar, Presbyterian church.
After 32 years of pleasant life among the nobility of Budapest, before and after the downfall of the Hapsburgs, she is one more New York writer, plugging hard on children's stories, plays, short stories and novels.

6,587 BADGER FARMS OPERATED BY WOMEN

866 Females Earn Living by Working as Laborers on Farms

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — Wisconsin claimed 6,587 full-fledged farmettes, women either owning or renting their own farms, not to mention 866 paid women farm laborers when the 1930 census was taken, according to a census bureau report.

And more women farm laborers in Wisconsin work without pay than receive money for their services—1,682 reporting as unpaid family workers, in fact.

Men farmers in the state numbered 91,247 owners and tenants, 77,659

DOG LICENSES STILL AVAILABLE IN CITY

Dog licenses can still be purchased at the office of the city treasurer, P. E. Bachman announced this morning. Although the state deadline for dog licenses is past, the tags are still being distributed from the treasurer's office, and the money placed in the police pension fund.
Owners of unlicensed dogs are now being rounded up by the police department.

Hard Time Party For Links Club

THE Hebekeah Three Links club will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Odd Fellow hall. Arrangements will be made for a hard time party and some sewing will be done. Mrs. Alice Ralph and Mrs. Dora Butties will be hostesses.

Five Appleton men were among the class of candidates to be initiated into the second degree of the Moose lodge at the Moose lodge Sunday at Fond du Lac. About 20 persons from Appleton attended the event. The business meeting was held at 1:30 and a banquet was served at 6 o'clock. The entertainment consisted of six rounds of amateur boxing and several dance selections. Al Cude gave a number of selections on the Hawaiian guitar. All cities in this district were represented at the frolic, and visitors were present from Milwaukee, Beaver Dam, Randolph, and Pittsburgh, Pa. About 150 persons attended.

Dancing took place in the evening, an old time orchestra providing music.

The Eight-Thirty Bridge club met Monday night at the home of Miss Helen Nelson, 402 S. Chicago. Prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Hoffmann and Mrs. Evelyn Lilje. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Miss Evelyn Grassl, 315 W. Foster-st.

Mrs. Henry Tillman, 614 E. Franklin-st., entertained the Riteful Bridge club Friday night at her home. Prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Hoffmann, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Doris Koehnke and Mrs. Evelyn Lilje. The next meeting will be on Feb. 23 with Mrs. Henry Hoffmann, Pine-st.

Mrs. Earl Baker, 324 E. Franklin-st. will be hostess to the Town and Gown club at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Rex Wells will have charge of the program on Cesar Franch and Charles Camille Saint-Saens.

Delta Gamma alumnae met Monday night at the chapter rooms on E. College-ave and did work in decorating the rooms. Fifteen members were present. Miss Martha Jentz was chairman of the social committee.

The Marathon Bridge club met Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Peters, 104 W. Winnebago-st. Mrs. Leo Keating was hostess. Prizes were won by Mrs. E. E. Mielke. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chady, Hancock-st.

Lady Eagles will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at Appleton Woman's club. A social hour will follow the business meeting and cards will be played.

The Fortnightly club will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. S. Torrey, 338 E. Eldorado-st. Mrs. E. F. Mielke will review "Ring of the Lowensoids" by Selma Lagerlof.

COMMITTEES FOR YEAR NAMED BY CHURCH LEAGUE

Several committees for the year were appointed at the meeting of the Junior Luther League of First English Lutheran church Monday night at the home of Lester and Vera Mielke, 517 E. Badollet-st. The membership committee includes Robert Maves and Lois Ferron, the sunshine committee consists of Lester Mielke and Dorothy Smith, and the committee to secure subscriptions to the Luther League News is composed of Gertrude Albrecht, Kenneth Sieth, and Lois Ferron.

Alan Solle, the new president, presided at the meeting. A sleighride party will be held Feb. 18, the members meeting at the church, corner of North and Drew-sts. The party will go to the home of Thelma and Elsie Wheeler, 1315 W. Summer-st. after the ride. Those in charge are Thelma and Elsie Wheeler, Robert Maves and Lois Ferron.

Hearts were played after the business meeting, prizes being won by Gladys Welch and Kenneth Sieth. The next meeting will be the second Monday in March with Gertrude Albrecht, Lester Mielke, Gladys Welch, and Lucille Heins in charge.

Washington Society In Rush As Lent Approaches

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS (Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor)

Washington—A gala, hurry-up-before-Lent week, was the last one in the national capital.

There was a white house reception Thursday to officials of various government departments (which involved a number of Wisconsin people), and a white house dinner of more than usual interest on Tuesday (that for the speaker of the house and Mrs. John Nance Garner of Uvalde, Texas, making the Gilbert and Sullivan cup—"What never? Well, hardly ever" applicable to these famous senders of regrets). Then there was a Congressional club reception Saturday night honoring the vice president and his sister, Mrs. Gann, with Mrs. John C. Schaefer of Milwaukee in the receiving line and members of the Wisconsin delegation in attendance.

There were two excellent theatrical offerings to make choosing hard for theatre-goers. The scintillating "Band Wagon" with its beauty and sparkle and lovely music on one hand, and a brand new hit play "Blessed Event" on the other.

And Monday—well next Monday will be the climax of it all. That night there will be the always colorful White House reception for the army and navy, and what promises to be a thrillingly lovely and amusing Bal Boheme presented by the Arts club of Washington.

King Neptune's realm is being invaded this year by the arts club, and queer funny monsters and marvels will swirl and twist their way around the briny (figuratively speaking) ballroom. Sailors and mermaids will cavort, if mermaids can cavort. And sea maidens and pearl maidens will dance for King Neptune.

"Badgers" "exiled" in Washington hand all of these events to challenge homecomings, and on Feb. 16, they will have their own Wisconsin State Society banquet and meeting at the new Kennedy-Warren. Sen. John J. Blaine will speak.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Balthasar Meyer and Mrs. Meyer, formerly of Madison, were among the guests entertained last week at a buffet supper party by the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Mrs. Claude R. Porter.

The Porters' guests included the 11 members of the Commission and their wives.

Mrs. John J. Blaine was one of the guests at the luncheon given early in the week by Mrs. Roscoe C. Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Seymour entertained at dinner Friday evening with the Solicitor General, Thomas Day Thacher, as ranking guest.

Mr. Seymour, a Madison man, is assistant solicitor general of the United States.

Among recent Wisconsin visitors in Washington who called at Sen. LaFollet's office during their stay were Dr. Otto Fiedler of Sheboygan, member of the legislative committee of the American Medical Association; Dr. H. O. Delaney of Beloit, president of the Progressive club of Rock-ock; Frank Connor of Milwaukee; Mr. Ryan of Janesville and Mr. Lathrop of Beloit.

Dr. Delaney was on his way to Florida.

Mrs. Robert McCoy, wife of General McCoy of Sparta, Mrs. Nell of Marshfield, Mrs. Will Nauth of Kiel, were in the national capital during the past week attending the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense. Wednesday they were entertained at the capitol by Rep. Michael Reilly of Fond du Lac.

During his recent visit to Washington, Judge Augustus C. Backus of Milwaukee, attended the White House dinner given by the President and Mrs. Hoover for the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the supreme court of the United States.

Following the dinner, the guests were entertained by a program given by Miss Grace Moore, lovely soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, and Miss Lucille Lawrence and Carlos Salzedo, harpists.

Plans are going forward for the 32nd annual dinner of the colorful military organization known as the Military Order of Carabao and now headed by General Douglas MacArthur. Another Wisconsin member helping with plans is Major General Irving J. Carr of Chippewa Falls, Chief Signal Officer of the Army.

The dinner will be held on Feb. 27.

MISS MORAWEK, A. VAN GOMPEL WED AT CHURCH

Miss Elsie Morawek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morawek, 334 W. Eighth-st., was married to Arthur Van Gompel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Van Gompel, Little Chute, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Joseph church. Miss Helen Morawek was bridesmaid, and Henry Van Gompel acted as best man. A wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party at the home of the bride's parents, and relatives were present at a wedding dinner. Supper will be served to the guests this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Van Gompel will make their home at 334 W. Eighth-st.

BESSEMER GIRL IS WED HERE BY RABBI ZUSSMAN

Miss Dorothy Abelson, Bessemer, Mich., and Benjamin Goldman, Madison, Mich., were married Monday night at the home of Rabbi A. Zussman who performed the ceremony. The bride is well known in Appleton as she attended school here in 1921. Mr. and Mrs. Goldman will make their home in Marquette, Mich.

PARTIES

A surprise party was given Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lilje at their home in honor of the couple's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Cards and dancing furnished entertainment. Music for dancing was furnished by Wilbert Lilje and Chester Stecker.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ludtke and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schmaling, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Sommers, Arthur Schmaling and Clarence Freund, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sommers, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wickert, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bergholz, Mr. and Mrs. William Stecker, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dettman, Miss Ida Langlotz, Henry Langlotz, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rusch, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilkhamm, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stecker, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Priem, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tiedt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, Miss Lillian Woldt and Miss Gertrude Woldt.

Forty-five tables were in play at the card party given Monday night at St. Joseph hall for the benefit of the Morning Glory troop, Girls Scouts of St. Joseph school. Scout mothers donated the lunch and prizes and took charge of the party. A few members of the committee were Mrs. C. Lohrenz, Mrs. S. Lehrer, Mrs. J. Ashauer, Mrs. Edward P. Loos, Miss Dorothy Wonders, and Miss Florence Hitchler.

Prizes at dice were won by Daniel Kolosco and Catherine Roemer, at progressive bridge by Mrs. William Konrad and Anton Fischer, at pivot bridge by Mrs. Fred C. Heinrich and Mrs. Paul Grass, at schafkopf by John Alenberger, Joseph Quella and Mrs. Theodore Sanders, and at plumpack by Mrs. Anton Zickler.

The proceeds of the party will be used to purchase new uniforms for the troop.

Miss Mary Smith, 702 E. Randall-st., entertained at a old fashioned party at her home Monday night. Dainties were played and prizes were won by Miss Myrtle Spangenberg, Miss Melba Schroeder, and Miss Hilda Hoerning. Miss Nettie Pierre won the prize for the best costume. An old-fashioned lunch was served. The guests included the Misses Anna and Myrtle Spangenberg, Olga Meiers, Hilda Hoerning, Emily Jahnik, Melba Schroeder, Mary Heins, Irene Schmidt, Nettie Pierre, Alta and Augusta Bethke.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Yohr, 1512 N. Drew-st., entertained a few friends and relatives at their home Sunday afternoon and evening in honor of the former's birthday anniversary. Dinner and supper were served and cards and motion pictures provided entertainment. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Yohr, William Tolm, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yohr, Mary Heins, and Mrs. Henry Anderson, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wettengel and son, Edward, Jr.; Mrs. Sophia Wenzel, Mr. and Mrs. Nic Schreiner and son, Allen.

Mrs. Henry Eichinger entertained at a surprise shower Thursday evening in honor of Miss Verna East at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold East, 1514 E. Gunn-st. Thirty guests were present. Prizes were given by Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Deeg, and at plumpack by Miss Viola Bobber, Miss Elvira Bohnsack, Mrs. Ignatius Eichinger, and Miss Ruth Nau. A mock wedding took place.

Women employees of the courthouse held a valentine party at the Candle Glow Tea room last night. Following a dinner cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Hermann Eats, Mrs. John Wetter, Mrs. William Corcoran and Mrs. Martin Dietzler. Arrangements for the party were made by Mrs. Wettengel and Miss Agnes Glasnap.

Catholic Daughters of America held a "children's party" as their last social event before Lent Monday night at Catholic home. About 40 members attended dressed in "kid" clothes. A 6 o'clock supper was served and games were played. Mrs. Gertrude De Young was chairman of the party.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin and the Ushers' Society of St. Mary church will hold a pre-Lenten card party and social at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Columbia hall. Cash prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. An Appleton orchestra will provide the music.

Mrs. L. J. Struts and Mrs. E. Brandes won the prizes at schafkopf at the card party given by Appleton Maennerchor Sunday afternoon in the new rooms in the basement of Appleton State bank. Two tables were in play.

Use Of Word "No" Is Best For Children

BY ANGELO PATRISI

It is always easier for us to say "No" when children ask to do things than to say "Yes." It seems safer. "Mother, can I wear my new dress today?" "No. Save it for another time." The words were out of your mouth before you had time to think. The child was disappointed. When you had time to think it over again, you knew that it really made no difference whether she wore that dress today or another day. Your impulse of safety made you say "No" first and think afterward.

A good many of our No's are like that. Given time for reflection we would change them to Yes's. But it is too late. Having said No we are afraid to say Yes because the children might learn that our Nay meant Yes and that would never do.

Experience has made us wary of saying Yes to the children. They spring something upon us and if we are surprised into saying Yes to what we should have negatived firmly, we are in a bad place. Caution has taught us to be wary. Often we are impulsively negative when we would be reasonably affirmative.

The best way is to take time before answering either way. Listen to the request with an open mind. Hear the child through. Don't stop him in the middle of a sentence with, "No. Don't bother me with such nonsense. I've no time for it. You know I don't want you out after night. I've told you that over and over again."

All the time you are trying to choke off the child he is striving to get in his word, to explain that this time is different. Maybe it is. Maybe it is the one time that you can see a good reason for his breaking precedent. Hear him out. Count ten, twenty, fifty, a hundred if you need to, before you answer and then say Yes if you can.

Childhood and youth are the times when Yes means so much to the pleading children. They can dance and sing and play now. By and by, when they have sense, what we call sense in our grownup moments—they will not want to play will not be able to play. The day will come when the girl will not care what dress she wears and the boy won't mind whether he gets a polo coat or not. If you save up all the joy until the children can safely be trusted with it because of their years and experience, they won't want it for the savor will have left it long ago. The flavor of life lies in a healthy childhood richly enjoyed.

I am not asking for indulgence. Over-petting, spoiling and all that make for selfishness. What is needed is an inclination to allow children all the fun, all the joy, all the privileges, that it is healthy to let them have. We don't want to say No unless we cannot help it.

If we make a habit of trying to say Yes, of trying to get the child's point of view, our No, when we have to say it, comes with a better grace, and sits with a better grace. Experience has taught the child that the No is for their protection and happiness and acts as well as a Yes in the long run. That is, if you say Yes as often as you can.

Mr. Patrisi will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

SHERWOOD FACTORY INCOME WAS $30,979

Total income of the Harrison Center Cheese factory, Sherwood, was $30,979.08 during 1931, according to the annual reports read at the annual meeting of the patrons last week. Of the total income $25,715.52 was paid to the patrons and $5,243.12 to the cheese maker, Al Thiel.

A total of 2,419,845 pounds of milk were delivered to the factory during the year. From this amount the plant manufactured 220,678 pounds of cheese, which sold for an average of 12.82 cents per pound. The amount of cheese consumed by patrons was 2,887 pounds, valued at $397.46.

William Kanter was elected president of the factory and Henry Peters was reelected secretary for his thirteenth term. Directors were elected as follows: Louis Bonas, Henry Schaefer and Joseph Spranger.

If we make a habit of trying to say Yes, of trying to get the child's point of view, our No, when we have to say it, comes with a better grace, and sits with a better grace. Experience has taught the child that the No is for their protection and happiness and acts as well as a Yes in the long run. That is, if you say Yes as often as you can.

Mr. Patrisi will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

TROUBLED ALL LIFE WITH CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Real Relief

If you are subject to headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness and other effects that so often result from constipation, read Mrs. Turner's voluntary letter.

"For the past six months I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and cannot praise it too highly.

"Am fifty years of age. All my life have been troubled with constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but has cured me.

"I thought I couldn't like the taste of bran, but Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious."—Mrs. C. J. Turner, 507 Hanover Street, Fall River, Mass.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking pills and drugs, so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PEOPLE WITH IDEAS NEEDED, WRISTON SAYS

Education Is Acquisition of Sense of Values, He Tells P. T. A.

Menasha—That the world is not in need of people with ideas, personality, character, and a sense of values, then of people who "know things" was expressed by Dr. Henry F. Wriston, president of the Wisconsin Educational Association, at a meeting of the Menasha school parent-teacher association meeting in the Day school building Monday evening.

Education, Dr. Wriston pointed out, is the acquisition and improvement of a sense of values. Classifying the values as intellectual, material, emotional, and spiritual, he explained that emotional values had the greatest effect on human happiness and that one of education's greatest contributions should be to give place to the emotions. All the values classified are in a sphere of education.

Constant change effects values in a general providing opportunities or continued improvement. Education, he stated, is based on the faith that human life is richer than is known and will become further enriched.

Education Changed

Speaking particularly of children's values and their changes, Dr. Wriston warned the parents not to expect their children to get the same school education that was afforded when the parents attended school and stated that parental tyranny in this respect was a great enemy of education. The changes from the days of the "little red school house," to present day education embodies a change from static to dynamic knowledge.

At the time when children were raised with "chances" to do, numerous activities to consider, and a more difficult environment, dynamic or working knowledge was obtained outside the school. At present children are "nursery locked" and must secure their working knowledge through school activities, the speaker explained.

The change in educational research, through the comparison of student groups, is greater in the grade school than in the high schools or colleges because of the greater plasticity of the students. Schools have increased interest in social effectiveness and have developed greater interest in study, the speaker stated, in the experience of the child, in the single objective, and have inculcated in children the habit of learning.

Ideas Are Valuable

Dr. Wriston emphasized particularly the need for allowing children to develop self expression, pointing out that self expression went far toward the development of personality and character. He stated, must be original, and one real idea overbalances many mislaid words.

Speaking further on the development of ideas, he stated that many children have ideas about the nature of things that because of their very simplicity are more valid than those of adults. One of the greatest experiences, he stated, is the experience of the child in the experience of the conception of reality.

Dr. Wriston's talk was preceded by a regular business meeting of the parent-teacher association. Mrs. A. C. Kipphart presided. Discretion in the selection of motion picture entertainment for children was among the topics discussed. A meeting of the Wisconsin school study club will be held next Monday evening with Mrs. John Laing in charge and recreation as the subject for consideration.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB TO PRESENT FANTASY

"My Maid on the Bamboo Screen" Expected to Draw Large Audience

Neenah—Nevin Junior Music club met Monday evening with Mrs. Annetta Sindala Matheson at her home on Church-st. Following the business meeting a piano duet by Marie Fiechsch and Willard Luedtke; a short talk on "What a Music Drama is," by Mrs. Matheson; a synopsis of Wagner's life by Willard Luedtke; papers on Richard Wagner's masterpiece, "Lohengrin," told by Josephine Oberst, Donald Mitchell and Gretchen Fiechsch.

The ultimate musical choice of several noted people, including John Phillip Sousa, Thomas Edison, Rudy Valle, Gene Tunney, Hon. Henry VanDyke, Mrs. Elsiebert Nevin, John McCormick, Joseph Hofmann, were discussed by Vivian Davies, Josephine Oberst, Donald Mitchell and William Buckley. This was followed by a musical quiz for members and guests by Mrs. Matheson and a solo, "The Holy City," played on a Chinese fiddle by Charles Blohmstrom.

A social and refreshments followed the program. The next meeting will be on the evening of Feb. 22, when Mrs. George Washington's will be discussed and played.

HOLD THIRD SCHOOL IN SAFETY PROGRAM

Neenah—The third number on the twin city Safety School program was given Monday evening at S. A. Cook armory. Charles Milton Newcomb of Delaware, O., was the speaker. His subject was "Laugh and Live." Mr. Newcomb is known as a "Student of Human Behavior," and his lecture dealt with familiar aspects of every day life, presented from a viewpoint of the trained psychologist. He is connected with the Industrial association at Cleveland, O., as secretary.

S. F. Shattuck of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, was chairman of the meeting.

The fourth number will be given next Monday evening with Walter E. Darling of Cincinnati, O., as the speaker. He will talk on the subject "Prevention of Its Own Cost."

Henry Jung of the Hardwood Products company will be the chairman Monday noon at the weekly luncheon at the Neenah club dining room.

GAMES RESUMED IN SCHOOL CAGE MEET

Neenah—High school district tournament basketball games were resumed Monday. Sturgeon Bay and De Pere played off a 10 and 10 tie, and a freethrow by Erdman won for the former team.

Two Rivers defeated Neenah 17 and 12; Kewaunee defeated Sturgeon Bay 20 and 12; De Pere defeated Oconto 14 and 13, and Algoma defeated Shawano, 13 and 2.

Kewaunee is still leading with 5 wins and no losses. De Pere is second and Neenah and Sturgeon Bay are tied for third place.

COUNTY PAYS $1,350 FOR DAMAGE BY DOGS

Neenah—A total of $1,350 was paid by Winnebago-co for damages done in 1931 by dogs, according to a report submitted to the department of agriculture and markets by the county clerk.

Seventy claims were paid during the year and three was disallowed. One claim was for a horse killed by a dog, for which $52 was paid. Four head of cattle were killed, the total amount was $1,170. Six dogs were killed for which $39.30 was paid. Sheep suffered heavily, a total of 154 being killed. The amount paid totaled $676.60. Poultry killed aggregated 439, for which $412.26 was paid.

There were 2,411 tags issued for male dogs and 391 for females. Receipts for 1931 from dog licenses were $3,213.

COMMISSION MEETS

Neenah—The water works commission met Monday afternoon to discuss routine business at the city hall. A committee consisting of Commissioner I. J. Stafford, City Attorney John O'Leary and City Clerk H. S. Zemlock was appointed to draft a communication concerning plans for the commission in regard to the proposed water softening and filtration project to be presented to the city council at its Feb. 13 meeting.

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY: I. ITS OPTIMISM AND ITS HESITATION

The year 1932 presents the Democrats with a golden opportunity and a difficult choice. They have reason to believe that this is one of those infrequent occasions—perhaps the fourth in seventy years—when they may elect a President in a straight party contest. The prospect would be excellent did they not have reason to doubt the necessity of making up their minds on the principal issues before the country.

It is evident that the bright prospects of the Democrats do not represent any conviction on the part of the country that the party knows how to lead the country out of its troubles. It can hardly be pretended that the Democrats have as yet come together on anything that can be called a coherent program of their own. They are strong because the Republicans are weak. Their credit has been rising because the Republican credit has been falling. Their chief asset at the moment is a popular desire for change. How a change for the better is to be effected, in what direction the party would proceed if it were intrusted with power, are questions which the active politicians will put off trying to answer just as long as they possibly can.

It may be that they can put off indefinitely the horrid necessity of committing the party on important issues. Certainly, if the elections were held this month they would need little more than a respectable candidate and a troupe of orators to remind the country how unhappy it is. But it is hard to believe that in the next nine months the party can drift into a triumph. In a world of this magnitude events come so rapidly and change so fast that it would be foolish to suppose that the Republicans outside, of the rank and file of Democrats within, will consent to a strategy of loud criticism and resounding emptiness.

ASSOCIATION NOT LIABLE ON POLICY

State Supreme Court Upholds Decision in Dodge-co Circuit Court

Madison—(AP)—The Aid Association for Lutherans, with headquarters at Appleton, is not liable on a $4,000 insurance policy written for Fred C. Neuberger of near Reeseville a short time before his death, the state supreme court held today.

The association refused to pay the claim on the ground that H. A. Baum, the agent who wrote the insurance had not authority to make a contract and that Neuberger had failed to comply with the by-laws by paying the first assessment and being admitted to a local branch before his death.

Mrs. Bertha Neuberger, the widow brought suit against the A. C. M. Davidson in Dodge-co circuit court and lost. She appealed the case.

Her counsel asserted that Baum, who sold the policy stipulated it was to be in force as soon as the health examination was approved, also that the initial examination fee of $3 was binding.

A copy of the by-laws of the organization was not included in the contract with Neuberger, counsel contended.

$92 IS DEPOSITED BY NEENAH STUDENTS

Neenah—The total amount of money deposited by 432 grade school students during the Tuesday morning banking hour was $92.46, an increase over deposit of the past few weeks. At Lincoln school the total was $32.40 by 84 pupils; at Roosevelt school, $26.

SNOW REMOVED FROM STREETS BY ROAD CREWS

Approximately 15 Additional Men Hired by North Side Commission

Kaukauna — Both road district crews were busy over the weekend and Monday removing snow from sidewalks, streets and the roadway on the bridge. The north side crew was increased, with 15 men added to the force to assist in removing snow from the principal streets, according to Thomas Reardon, north road commissioner. Little trouble was experienced by the south road crew, according to Joseph Kuehn, south road commissioner, so no men were added to the regular crew.

The commissioners said that property owners and residents have been helping the crews by removing their snow promptly the morning after a snowfall. Property owners or residents who fail to do this will have snow removed from their property at the expense of the city. The cost will be placed on the tax roll next year.

Cinders were placed on all of the steep hills in the city and some of these also were spread near arterial intersections and on sharp curves. Sand was spread on several sidewalks where ice had accumulated.

Use of the road scrapers helped in removing the snow from the business district, the scraper moving all snow to the curbs, where it was shoveled into trucks and hauled away. Some of the snow was dumped into the ravine near the Lawest park. Youngsters of the city have appropriated the sides of the ravine for a coasting hill.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Roberts celebrated their 38th wedding anniversary at their home on Island-st here Sunday. A 6 o'clock dinner was served. Prizes in cards were awarded to Mrs. Anna McCarthy, Mrs. Matt Verfurth and Mrs. L. McCarty.

Women's Foreign Missionary society of Brokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. Hammond at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. James Black, Mrs. J. J. Gordon and Mrs. Wilmer Johnson will be in charge of the program.

Mrs. Minta Ristau entertained at her home on Depot-st Monday afternoon. Cards were played, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Nic Heindel, Mrs. Ann Held and Mrs. Archie Creviere. A lunch was served.

Mrs. Anton Berkens entertained at her home on Doty-st Monday afternoon. Prizes at cards were awarded to Mrs. E. J. Van Ellis, Mrs. Lester Erenzel and Mrs. Gordon Mulholland. A lunch was served.

Young Ladies sodality of Holy Cross church met in the school house Monday evening. Reports of a play given by the sodality last week were heard. Eileen Miller is president, and Rev. F. Melchior is adviser.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Kaukauna — The World Day of Prayer will be observed with appropriate services at Brokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church here at 7:30 Friday evening. The First Congregational, the Immanuel Reformed and Methodist churches will unite in this service. Mrs. John Scheib, wife of the pastor of Immanuel Reformed church, will preside. The program, "Hail East In Prayer" is the same as used in all churches the same day in nearly 50 countries.

It was written by a college girl in Indiana, and the preface was written by a Mexican woman. This has been translated into many different languages. The hymn, "In The Secret of His Presence," written by Ellen Goreh, an Indiana girl, will be sung as a solo by Mrs. W. O. Knox. The public is invited to this service.

AWAIT DECISION IN SOUTH SHORE CASE

Kaukauna — H. F. Weekwerth, head of the Kaukauna utility, and J. W. Lefevre, city engineer, left for Madison Tuesday morning on business regarding a decision of the supreme court, on whether the South Shore Utility will serve the Village of Combined Locks. A hearing was held by the court early in January. Several hearings have been held in Kaukauna and Appleton. At a hearing here in 1930 by the Wisconsin Railroad commission, the city of Kaukauna was awarded the decision.

CHARGE THREE MEN CREATED DISTURBANCE

Kaukauna—Three men were arrested about 3:30 Tuesday morning for creating a disturbance on the corner of Crooks-ave and Second-st. They are Henry Buss, William Buckney, and Clarence Clune. The arrests were made by Officers John Hald and James McFadden. They were to appear before Justice T. Seggelink Tuesday afternoon.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS DANCE FOR GOLF CLUB

Kaukauna — A large crowd attended the final dance before Lent to be given by the Kaukauna Golf club in the Combined Locks pavilion Monday evening. Members of the dance committee were Fred Olin, chairman, George Egan, Ray McCarty, Sylvester Esler, Les Smith, William Johnson, and Gene Dittler.

SCOUT TROOPS MEET

Kaukauna—Boy Scout troops Nos. 20 and 27 met at 7:30 Monday evening, scouts of troop 20 meeting in Park school auditorium, and scouts of troop 27 meeting in St. Mary's Annex. Henry Grieschar is scoutmaster of troop 27, and H. J. Lane is scoutmaster of troop 20. Plans for the Mid-winter fair exhibits are being made by the scouts.

HIGH SCHOOL CAGERS PREPARE FOR DE PERE

Kaukauna—Coach Paul E. Little Monday started drilling his Kaukauna high school basketball team for its fracas with the East De Pere high school team here Friday evening. The DePere aggregation is leading the Northeastern Wisconsin conference, and expects to take an easy win from the Kaws. The Kaukauna quint showed much improvement in its game with Neenah last Saturday evening.

PUSH PETITIONS FOR INDUSTRIAL FUNDS

Kaukauna—Petitions asking the city to include in its next referendum the question, "Shall the city make an annual appropriation for commercial and industrial development," are securing the necessary number of signatures, and the common council is expected to take favorable action on the petitions at the next meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 16. The appropriation for cities of this size is $2,000.

HISTORY PROFESSOR TO ADDRESS ROTARIANS

Kaukauna—The Rotary club will meet in Hotel Kaukauna Wednesday noon, the meeting opening with a luncheon at 12:30. John B. MacHarg, professor of American history at Lawrence college, Appleton, will speak on Abraham Lincoln. The program was arranged by William F. Ashe, L. F. Nelson and Dr. C. D. Boyd.

ENCOURAGE JOBLESS TO ENROLL FOR STUDY

Kaukauna—A plan similar to that being followed at Lawrence college is being arranged at the high school, and students will start work soon. Students who have not completed their high school education, and who are unemployed at the present time, may enroll for a course of study. Final arrangements are being made by James F. Cavanaugh, superintendent of schools.

HOLD REHEARSALS FOR THREE-ACT COMEDY

MRS. HENDRICKS DIES IN WOODVILLE TOWN

Funeral Services to Be Held Thursday Morning at Hollandtown

Kaukauna — Mrs. Mary Hendricks, 78, died at her home in town of Woodville Monday forenoon after an illness of six days. The body was removed to the Greenwood funeral chapel here. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Francis church Hollandtown. Burial will be in the church cemetery. The rosary will be recited at the chapel at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

She was born in town of Woodville in 1854 and in April, 1883, was married to Martin Hendricks. Residence at the present home on Highway 57 was established nearly 35 years ago. When unable to continue in active farming, Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks retired to the McCormick Memorial Home for the Aged at Green Bay in 1923, from which they returned here three years later. Mr. Hendricks died here in September, 1928. The nearest survivors are a number of nephews and nieces, living at Dundee, Little Chute, Marinette, Oshkosh, Freedom, and Wrightstown.

BANQUET TONIGHT FOR GIRL SCOUT LEADER

The series of Girl Scout discussion meetings Monday and Tuesday at the Appleton Woman's club will culminate with a banquet at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Alice Kirk, Chicago, regional director of the seventh district which includes Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois.

Miss Kirk will meet separately with Girl Scout patrol leaders from the eight troops to discuss problems from the scout viewpoint; she is scheduled to meet today with the committee on awards, headed by Mrs. J. P. Frank, and the Leaders' Training committee. Tuesday morning Miss Kirk will talk to members of the camp committee, the Girl Scout leaders in the afternoon, followed by the banquet of which Mrs. S. C. Shannon has charge.

New members of the community Girl Scout committee who make up the various scout committees are monuments of elaborate sophistry.

Your Birthday

BY MARY BLAKE "AQUARIUS"

If February 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:40 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3:15 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:35 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m.

A stormy atmosphere is augured for February 10th, bringing vivid emotional experiences. The formation of influential friendships is shown, which may indirectly bring about the fulfillment of some cherished dream. The influence, in the main, will mostly affect the junior members of the family.

The child born on this February 10th will have a quiet and an unassuming manner which readily makes friends, and which does not antagonize. It will be very patient; if it has a problem to solve, it will wait no help. One of its finest qualities will be its everlasting loyalty, and it can be trusted to the limit.

Born on February 10th, it is part of your charm that you never say or do the expected, the ordinary. There are many sides to your nature. With some people the serious, sincere earnest side of your character comes to the front and reason prevails. Other people seem to reach all that is impetuous or unreasonable in your nature and to stir troubles unknown depths in you—troubles, undetected traits of recklessness. You have a headstrong, impetuous self. You are often dismayed at your own strange, dual-like personality. You can be magnificently inconsistent. You are capable of arguing for and against something, all in the same breath. The ingenuity of the excuses by which you justify yourself

MEET NEENAH FIVE

Kaukauna—Trinity Dramatic club basketball team will meet the Neenah entry in the Fox River Valley Lutheran league here next Saturday evening. This will be the second meeting of the two teams this season, the Neenah team being victorious in the first encounter. The Kaw team has a record of one game won and five lost.

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right. For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine. If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat."

How Sensible Folks Conquer Rheumatism
An inexpensive prescription that starts to drive uric acid poisons from the body in 24 hours

Stopping the almost unbearable agony in joints and muscles with opiates or pain deadening drugs is easy — it's even worse than taking strong drink to drown your sorrow and bury your worries.

Allenru, the prescription so much in demand by wise people, is safe, harmless and speedy — it absolutely conquers the pain and agony of rheumatism in 48 hours — it is positively guaranteed to do it.

It goes further—being a scientific formula, it drives from your joints, muscles and blood the uric acid deposits — it overcomes and removes from your entire body the cause of rheumatism.

People suffering from terrible attacks of rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis or lumbago that prevents them from doing their daily labor can be back at work again in 48 hours.

Allenru guarantees this joyful result so why not get an 85 cent bottle from Voigt's Drug Store, Schmilz Bros. Co., or any modern drugist with the distinct understanding that it must do just as this notice states or money back.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cost. It loosens the gum-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Finex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations. Do not accept a substitute for Finex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SORE THROAT

There's a world of winter comfort in Bayer Aspirin tablets. If you take them only to break-up colds, you know only half the story. Some tablets crushed in a little water will relieve the sorest throat with one good gargle. That's what the specialists use in cases of sore throat. That's what you ought to use at home—every time you want throat comfort and protection from infection. Remember, every case of tonsillitis began with just a sore throat! Don't neglect any sore throat. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at the first tickling felt. Take a couple of tablets for that headache that comes with a cold—for neuralgia, neuritis, or similar pain. If it's genuine Bayer, it can't hurt the heart.

75TH ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM ENDS AT NEW LONDON

More Than 200 Attend Final Gathering at Congregational Church

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Before an assemblage of about 200 past and present members of the First Congregational church, R. N. Van Doren, first vice president for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, gave the final address at the three-day festival marking the 75th anniversary of the founding of the church. The occasion on Monday night was the birthday banquet, served by members of the Episcopal guild at the Congregational church.

The evening was one in which high spirits were intermixed with sentiment. There were many in the gathering who had come a long distance to meet friends and to refresh memories of years of which all faint of struggle and sacrifice have departed leaving only pleasant recollections. The struggles of the pioneer were reviewed in historical sketches provided by letters from the descendants of charter members. One of these was particularly interesting, being written and presented by one of the members, who herself was unusually active in the progress of the church. This was Mrs. E. H. Ramm. Another was a sketch written by Mrs. Sarah Gilbert, now residing in Milwaukee, who remembers clearly details of four wars and who gave freely of her time and strength in the first days of the church's existence. This was read by Mrs. Dorothy Vial, granddaughter of Mrs. Gilbert.

Compiles Church Data
To Mrs. F. J. Pfeiffer, whose entire life and that of her people has been centered about this community, had been detailed the work of compiling the data which will be kept among the records of the church. This reviewed the entire three quarters of a century, painted clearly the characters of men and women who built up the present organization, with special attention paid to the accomplishments of the pastors who have come and gone.

Messages by telegraph and letter were read throughout the day. Many of these figured in the period when the church kept open house on Monday afternoon at the high time tea was served, and Mrs. Emma Miller and Mrs. Leslie Freeman presided at the tea table.

During the evening F. L. Zaugg acted as toastmaster, with the pastor, A. W. Sweeney, reading bits from messages received. Others to speak were Mrs. Hale Thompson, daughter of a charter member of the church, and granddaughter of the founder, A. C. Lathrop, Arthur Ritchie, son of pioneer founders of the sister church at Royalton, Rev. W. S. Dayton, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

At the close of the dinner a large birthday cake, lighted with 75 candles, was cut by the oldest living member, Mrs. H. S. Lyon, now of Milwaukee, who has been attending every service of the festival of the church in which she served for years. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon were most ardent supporters of the church, Mr. Lyon serving as Sunday school superintendent for many years. Mrs. Lyon was presented with a basket of flowers by the Ladies Aid society.

Optimistic of Future
Mr. Van Doren turned the thoughts of his audience back as he reviewed the outstanding characters of those he knew in his residence here 32 years ago. His talk was chiefly of the future, however.

"Membership to your church in members alone means nothing measured alongside your church's influence," he said. "People whom you have forgotten have gone on from the earth, but their names have been learned to take active places in the world. They have become better fitted to serve because they spent some little time here."

"Seventy-five years of service! And in that time empires have fallen, kings and princes have disappeared, the map of the world has been recast, yet this church stands here as the truth along the river, the ox teams, the candle dip, replaced by rows of shining cars, electric lights, radio. You pick what you want from the air. However good the old days I believe that the best times are ahead, for I am an optimist."

Mr. Van Doren expressed his belief in young people, saying that while they are most of the time the belief they will be as thoroughly clean as any generation of young people the world has known.

PLAN POULTRY CLINIC AT NEW LONDON HALL

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London—A poultry clinic, at which all phases of poultry breeding, hatchery methods, and treatment of ailments peculiar in flocks will be held Wednesday at Legion hall, between 30th and 40th block owners will be present. APPLETON MOTORIST UNINJURED IN CRASH

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London—Fay Zerrenner, Appleton, driving to this city about 10:30 Sunday night, escaped a serious accident when his car left the road near the top of the ledge on Highway 26, between this city and Hortonville, and plunged down an embankment. The young man, who was alone, believed that he fell asleep. His long plunge down the side of the limestone cliff the car went through a fence, sideswiped a telephone pole and narrowly missed several trees. Tracks show that the car must have overturned to right itself and come to a standstill with only minor damages and with the driver unhurt.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified cod liver oil. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creomulsion is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to cod liver oil, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creomulsion goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds and flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist (adv.)

ASH WEDNESDAY MARKS START OF LENTEN SEASON

Easter Falls Unusually Early This Year—Date Is March 27

The Lenten season will open this week with special services in most churches on Ash Wednesday. Until Easter church activities will be restricted to business and devotional meetings, social activities being barred in most churches during Lent.

Easter is unusually early this year, falling on Sunday, March 27. Only twice in the last forty years has Easter fallen on an earlier date. In 1918 Easter was celebrated on March 22, but it was observed on March 25.

The date for Easter is governed by the phases of the moon, and always falls on the Sunday after the first full moon of spring.

Some churches will start a series of midweek Lenten services this week and continue until Easter, while others will concentrate during the last one or two weeks before Easter.

The entire week at the Methodist church is being turned over to lectures by Dr. Herbert H. Parish, noted stewardship specialist of the Methodist church, who is to give a series of talks at the local church. His program will include a talk at the Missionary tea Tuesday evening, a speech to young people Wednesday evening, to adults Thursday evening, and a lecture at a men's club supper Friday evening.

World Day Prayer

The World Day of Prayer services will be held at the Methodist church Friday. Dr. J. A. Holmes preached on the march of the children of Israel into the promised land, likening it to present day conditions. He said that moderns cannot go into the promised land of prosperity, peace and brotherhood today unless led by a cross by day and a pillar of fire at night. They must have religious conviction, he said, and must seek leadership beyond that which the world offers.

The Lenten program at All Saints Episcopal church will open on Ash Wednesday with two administrations of Holy Communion, one at 7:30 in the morning, conducted by Bishop Harwood Sturtevant, and another at 8 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. E. F. Utts in charge. At 7:30 in the evening the Penitential Office will be read and an address given by Dr. Utts. During the Lenten season a Holy Communion service will be held every Wednesday morning, and a special service every Thursday evening. Dr. Utts preached Sunday on the Nine Point Program.

Challenge of Modern Doubt

The Rev. E. A. Gibson, in his sermon at Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday, said that at different periods in history doubt seemed to be more pronounced than at others, and that the world might be in one of those periods now. He said that it probably was brought on by the discoveries of science, which have tended to create a sense of self-sufficiency in man. He explained that there is evidence now that scientists are spiritualizing their ideas more than ever, and he quoted from "Has Science Discovered God?" to support his viewpoint. Lenten services will start at the Presbyterian church next week. The Missionary society met Tuesday afternoon, and Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of the session.

Opens Addresses

The first of series of Lenten addresses will be given at 7:30 Thursday evening at the Congregational church by Dr. H. E. Peabody. He will talk on "Fabulously Wealthy"—by the Christian State of Mind. A Lenten sermon will be preached every Sunday morning, and at the meetings of the Men's club Dr. J. R. Denyes will discuss "The Evolution of Religious Thought." W. F. Bradburn, religious education director, is attending the convention of the International Council of Religious Education in Chicago this week. Choosing a friend was the subject at the Young People's Fellowship group meeting Sunday, and in the evening the motion picture service featured "Sparrows." The deaconesses of the church met Tuesday afternoon.

The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer will preach next Sunday at Immanuel Lutheran church at New London, a service celebrating the tenth anniversary of the dedication of the church building. The Rev. A. Auerwald will preach at Mount Olive church. Mr. Ziesemer will talk on Jesus of Nazareth, the Saviour of Mankind at a special Lenten service at 7:45 Wednesday evening. Looking up to the Cross of Calvary was his subject Tuesday afternoon.

The choir of Trinity English Lutheran church attended a party at Kaukauna Monday evening, and Tuesday evening the Brotherhood will meet with the men of St. Paul church, Neenah. Holy Communion will be administered at the Ash Wednesday service at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

English Lenten Service

An English Lenten service will be held at 7:45 Wednesday evening at Zion Lutheran church, and a German Lenten service at the same time Thursday evening. The Rev. Theodore Marth preached Sunday morning on "The Different Reception of the Gospel of Christ."

English Lenten services will be held every Thursday evening at 7:45 at St. Matthew church, and a German service every other Wednesday, starting on Feb. 17. The Rev. Philip A. C. Froehke will preach Thursday evening on "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" A monthly congregational meeting was held Monday evening.

The Rev. W. R. Veltzer will preach on the first word of Christ from the cross at the midweek Lenten service at St. John church at 7:30 Wednesday evening. At the Brotherhood meeting Monday evening he talked on Our Evangelical Pioneers, and on Sunday his sermon subjects were Christian Love and Places of Power in Christ's Kingdom.

others. That isn't the right way. That's the way to make the conference fail and to present the unhappy condition of an armed peace resting on unequal rights."

Chancellor Bruening introduced a new language into the conference, speaking German, which had to be translated into both French and English.

He was given warm applause by the delegates, as was Ambassador Gibson.

Ambassador Gibson's announcement that the United States would consent to budgetary or financial reduction as a complement to direct limitation of armaments drew special applause from the delegations. This question has long been a stumbling block to preparatory disarmament work.

Slash Is Essential

"A decrease in arms is an essential," Mr. Gibson said, "not alone for the recovery of the world, but also to the preservation of the whole fabric of peace."

The United States, he said, advocates making the draft convention drawn up by the preparatory committee the basis of the discussions of the conference. In this he agreed in the stand taken by Sir John Simon, spokesman for Great Britain, who addressed the conference yesterday. Gibson added, however, that at the first Lenten midweek service at the Reformed church at 7:30 Thursday evening. The Women's Missionary society will meet Wednesday evening. The Rev. E. F. Franz preached Sunday morning on "Meat Which Endureth."

German Lenten Service

A German Lenten service will be held at 7:30 Wednesday evening at St. Paul Lutheran church, and an English service at 7:30 Thursday evening.

The first of a group of evangelistic services sponsored by the Men's club at the Baptist church was held Sunday evening, with the Rev. Ernest Haasbroek preaching on "Is Conversion a Necessity?" In the morning his subject was The Christ We Present. The midweek service of worship will be held Thursday evening.

Officers of the Women's Missionary Society and the Young People's Missionary Circle were installed at a candlelight service at Emmanuel Evangelical church Sunday evening. The Rev. G. H. Blum preached on "The Kingdom Come." In the morning his subject was The Supreme Question.

Ashes will be distributed after the 7:30 service at St. Mary church Wednesday evening. During Lent special services will be held every Wednesday and Friday evenings.

At St. Joseph church ashes will be blessed and distributed at the 8 o'clock mass, at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and at 7:30 in the evening following the sermon. The Rev. J. H. Blum preached on "The Kingdom Come." In the morning his subject was The Supreme Question.

The sermon subject at First English Lutheran church Sunday was The Figure of Lent.

At the First Gospel Tabernacle Sunday the Rev. Lawrence N. Olson talked on "Feed My Sheep" and "The World's Approaching Midnight—Its Message to the Christian and the Sinner. Christ's Doctrine of Salvation will be the subject at the Bible study meeting at 7:45 Thursday evening.

The theme at the service at the First Church of Christ Scientist Sunday was Spirit.

THINKS JAPAN SEEKS CONTROL OF MANCHURIA

Country Wants Chinese to Declare War, Dr. Denyes Declares

Although admitting it would be unwise for any man to say what the outcome of the present Sino-Japanese trouble will be, Dr. John R. Denyes of Lawrence college, Monday noon told Appleton Lions club he believed Japan had very definite plans for acquiring a protectorate over and later complete control of Manchuria.

The United States is willing to consider any supplementary proposal calculated to achieve arms reduction. Soft snow whitened John Calvin's city as the two statesmen, representatives of a victor and a vanquished nation in the world war demanded, in terms of great moderation and friendship, that the whole world, without exception, disarm.

Jose Carlos de Maceno Soares, Brazilian delegate and first representative of the small powers to speak before the conference, closed today's session. He said the system of excessive armaments produced a classification of nations into great and small powers, therefore it is up to the interested powers to take the initiative in bringing about disarmament in which Brazil stands ready to join.

In his address Mr. Gibson made it clear the western hemisphere has no large navy except that of the United States, has no armies which are feared by neighbor powers and has had no war among its nations for 50 years.

"The problem of armaments is not of the eastern hemisphere," he said. "Nevertheless, and in spite of the fact that we ourselves have reduced the personnel of our land forces below the proportion reached by any great European war, we are here to cooperate to the utmost of our ability."

After presenting the nine concrete points, Mr. Gibson said:

"We are prepared to discuss and extend to other fields the principles of limitation and reduction of armaments already established and to examine and accept the new principles if they contribute genuinely to the end defined."

Nine U. S. Points

The following is the full text of Mr. Gibson's statement of the nine American points:

"1.—The American government advocates consideration of the draft convention as containing the outlines for a convenient basis for discussion, while expressing its entire willingness to give full consideration to any supplementary proposals calculated to advance the end we all seek."

"2.—We suggest the possibility of prolonging the existing naval agreements concluded at Washington and London, and we advocate completing the latter as soon as possible by the adherence of France and Italy."

"3.—We advocate proportional reduction from the figures laid down in the Washington and London agreements on naval tonnage as soon as all parties to the Washington agreement have entered this frame work."

"4.—We advocate, as we long have done, the total abolition of submarine."

"5.—We will join in formulating the most effective measures to protect civilian population against aerial bombing."

"6.—We advocate the total abolition of lethal gases and bacteriological warfare."

Limit Land Forces

"7.—We advocate, as I have already stated, the computation of the number of armed forces on the basis of the effectiveness necessary for the maintenance of internal order plus such suitable contingent for defense. The former are obviously impossible of reduction; the latter is a question of relativity."

"8.—We agree in advocating special restrictions for tanks and heavy mobile guns, in other words, for those arms of a peculiarly offensive character."

"9.—We are prepared to consider a limitation of expenditure on material as a complementary method to direct limitation, feeling that it may prove useful to prevent a qualitative race, if and when quantitative limitation has been effected."

Mr. Gibson concluded his address as follows:

"The delegation of the United States is representing not only a government but a people and the mandate from both is in the same unmistakable terms, that decrease in armaments is an essential not to economic recovery of the world but also to the preservation of the whole social fabric."

churia. Dr. Denyes was for many years a missionary in Borneo and is well acquainted with China.

It is Dr. Denyes' opinion that Japan is sending a punitive expedition into China through Shanghai to force the Chinese to declare war. Then China will be the aggressor, Japan the defensive nation; she will maintain her standing with the league of nations, the Kellogg treaty and other pacts, can blockade the Chinese harbors, starve the country into submitting to Japanese demands which will very definitely concern Manchuria and control of that province.

Going back into Chinese history, Dr. Denyes recounted the periods through which the country has passed, the troubles it has had, how the spirit of nationalism was completely killed through philosophy and religion and how it now is in the ascendency.

"China once was composed of the entire far east," Dr. Denyes said. "The outlying districts being subjective states that paid tribute to the one great state, China. Today the one great empire is broken up, so much so that while Mandarin is the most common language, there are sections where groups 100 yards apart can't converse with each other."

Forgot Outside World

"When at the height of its power China had its great inventions, gun powder, paper and block type, all before the white man, its arts and a great educational scheme. But through it all there existed an intense conservatism and philosophy of life, and an egotistic attitude. And during this period no attention was paid the outside world."

"Then came the religion of Confucius with ancestor worship and the philosophy that all wisdom lay in the past. Inventiveness was submerged during the period and education and arts stopped. The feeling was that China had reached the topmost rung of human possibility."

"With continuance of that thought and attitude the Chinese lost all sense of nationalism, became submissive, and when the Manchus took control political corruption became the dominant ideal of the country."

"In 1517 Portugal discovered China, visited at Macao, was welcomed by the Chinese, and invited to carry on trade. Differences arose and the Portuguese declared war. When it was settled they had entire control of the port."

In 1575 the Spanish attempted to come into China, but because they looked too much like the Portuguese the Chinese refused to deal with them and they went to Manila in the Philippine Islands where Chinese lived, and one day set out and massacred about 20,000. China thought nothing of that, however, that was the hard luck of the Chinese in Manila.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century the Dutch visited some of China's islands and staged another massacre, but again the Chinese in other sections of the country paid no attention."

Opium Introduced

In 1841 the British introduced opium into China from India, found a great market for it and got into difficulties with the Chinese. The opium war followed, England won and obtained Hongkong and the opening of five other ports, Shanghai, Amoy, Foochow, Ningpo and Canton—to foreign residence and trade.

The year 1865 saw the French get into an argument over opium trade in China and they secured rights in Peking and Nanking. Then in 1861 the territory now comprising Indo-China was seized, and in 1885 the British saw fit to annex Burma to the Indian empire.

In 1894-95 Japan went to war against China, having become a power, took away Port Arthur, and asked concessions in Korea and the island of Formosa. France, Russia and Germany objected to Japan having holdings and it was decided China should pay Japan in money—enough to permit her to build a big army and navy.

Russia then entered the picture, seeking a year round port to run her Trans-Siberia railroad, Vladivostok harbor being frozen shut six months of the year.

The Russians dickered with the Japanese and secured permission to build a railroad through Manchuria to Harbin and then to Port Arthur.

About this time the Chinese killed two German missionaries," Dr. Denyes said, "and Germany immediately realized the commercial value of dead missionaries and had a pretext to seize Tsingtao. Then the

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

William E. Barton

Houston, Mo.—(AP)—William E. Barton was sent to Congress from the sixteenth Missouri district when that normally Democratic Ozark stronghold returned to the fold after lapsing into republicanism in the Hoover landslide of 1928.

Born in Hickman county, South Carolina, April 11, 1868, Barton was educated in the public schools and William E. Barton the University of Missouri, where he studied law, taking his degree in 1894.

In 1901 and 1902 he was prosecuting attorney of Texas county, Missouri.

English leased ports as did the French and Italians.

A spirit of nationalism started to awaken in China in 1900 and resulted in the Boxer uprising which Dr. Denyes said was well meant but which was stupid and crude because of the methods used. It resulted in treaties which taxed China so heavily the country has been poor ever since.

The Russo-Japanese war came in 1904 and the Japs seized Russian holdings in Manchuria and made China sign a treaty that permits Japan unlimited military power over the railroads. The railroads incidentally pass directly through the great mineral deposits of Manchuria.

"Since then Japan has been watching her chance to seize more territory in China and even during the world war when she was supposed to be aligned with the allies she bargained with her support for territorial rights in China," he said.

"And while all this has been going on, changes were coming about in China. The people saw how Japan, a few years before a wild, almost uncivilized nation, had become a world power and had defeated the white man. National spirit arose and the Chinese mental attitude changed, bringing about one of the most momentous things in present day history."

"Western type schools were started in Japan under government order, the people became military minded and youth were trained to be soldiers. Western teachers were forced out and eastern teachers substituted. Ten million young men received training as soldiers, and I have seen boys by the thousands marching with the snap and precision of well trained men."

"But with the military training and the fall of the monarchical government war lords set themselves up all over the country and government still is decentralized. That western education has its effect, is proved by the fact six members of the cabinet that resigned last year were former Y. M. C. A. secretaries. "Japan has designs on Manchuria, but it cannot declare war without jeopardizing its standing with other countries. So it has gone into Manchuria after bandits, a bandit being anything that comes in front of a Japanese gun. A punitive expedition has gone into Shanghai to further irritate the Chinese in the hopes they will declare war."

"And if they declare war Japan still can retain her standing with other nations and dictate her terms if she wins. China will have been the aggressor; Japan the defender. And when the treaties are signed Japan will have a protectorate over all of Manchuria, and in five years will have absorbed or taken over the province just as it did Korea."

COURT OPENS UP WITH AMBY STILL ON THE STAND AND IS NOW BEING CROSS-QUESTIONED BY ATTORNEY ZORB AND IT LOOKS LIKE HE WAS IN FOR A SWELL GRILLING.

Q: SO YOU THINK MARRIAGE IS A SACRED CONTRACT?
A: I TOOK AN OATH TO IT.
Q: AND YOU PRACTICED THAT OATH?
A: AS FAR AS I WAS GIVEN TO UNDERSTAND IT.
Q: DID YOU GIVE YOUR WIFE AN IDEA THAT YOU WERE A RICH MAN?
A: I NEVER GAVE NOBODY THAT IDEA.
Q: YOU ARE A RICH MAN, AREN'T YOU?
A: I AIN'T FIGGERED UP SINCE I BEEN IN COURT. NOBODY IS RICH THESE DAYS.
Q: DON'T EVADE THE QUESTION. ANSWER 'YES' OR 'NO'!
A: YES OR NO!

IF YOU ATTORNEYS DON'T STEP ON THE GAS, THIS TRIAL IS GOING TO LAST INTEREST—YOU CAN'T KEEP THE POPULACE HERE FOREVER. SOME OF EM HAVE OTHER THINGS TO DO.

ATTORNEY ZORB: YOUR HONOR, WILL YOU CONVEY THE WITNESS TO ANSWER THE QUESTION: WITNESS: YOUR HONOR, IN THESE TIMES WITH YOUR SECURITIES REFUSING TO BE SECURE, I DON'T KNOW WHAT I'M WORTH—YOU CAN SEND AN ACCOUNTANT OVER TO THE BANK TO CHECK ME UP.
JUDGE: GO ON WITH THE TRIAL—THE JURY KNOWS MORE ABOUT THE AFFAIRS OF THE PEOPLE CONCERNED THAN THE COUNSEL.

Q: ISN'T IT TRUE THAT YOU HAVE ALWAYS BEEN A TRIFLER?
A: WHAT IS A TRIFLER?
Q: DO YOU REMEMBER A WIDOW BY THE NAME OF CONNIE?
A: I REMEMBER AND I WISH I COULD FORGET.
ATTORNEY SABATH: I OBJECT, YOUR HONOR—ANYTHING THAT HAPPENED IN HIS LIFE PREVIOUS TO HIS MARRIAGE IS IRRELEVANT.

"Oh boy!" breathed Goody rapturously. "If she only would! I'll go talk to her right now. You know Hope, I'd even diet for Charlie Rand, I mean really diet!"

Hope watched Goody as she stalked unceremoniously out of the room. She wanted dreadfully to grin—but the grin wouldn't come!

She scrutinized the New England antiques, the treasured patchwork quilt, the four-poster bed with its curved canopy top all done in sprigged-print covering to match the huge wing chair and its tiny hassock before the fireplace, the braided and looped rugs, the maple lowboy with its prim mirror above, framed in the Chippendale manner, and its ladder-back chair with a rush seat, the maple bureau with ball feet, the butterfly table, the framed sampler, the pewter sideplugs and candlesticks—again that gave Hope a strange feeling of melancholy and futility every time she entered.

"You poor melen," she told herself with that sly delight which

BOY CRAZY

by GRACE PERKINS

SYNOPSIS: Clever plotting is necessary to arrange a successful party at Lake Placid, Hope Ross finds, but she is more than equal to the occasion. She wants freedom to run her party as she wishes, and as far as her indulgent father is concerned, that is easy. Her mother, however, is more critical, and her sister, Goody, is so conventional that she promises to be a perfect damper. Goody is in love with Charlie Rand, and this gives Hope an idea. Charlie can't go to the party, so Hope maneuvers him into promising to look after Goody, if Goody stays home, too. Then she tells Goody that the way to win Charlie is to stay home from the Placid party, and concentrate on him. Goody would be glad to have a clear field, for Hope is a devil that to a boy who catches sight of her gold hair and piquant face.

Chapter 5

LAUNCHING THE HOUSE PARTY

YOU find some excuse to stay in town. Then you'll miss the party—all by yourself. Why, it's a cinch, Goody. Only make a good excuse so he won't catch on.

"Gee! I wonder!"

Hope turned away because the happiness in Goody's face was slightly pathetic—and embarrassing.

"Listen," she said quietly, "Mama would do anything for you to make you happy. Why don't you go and tell her all about it? She could make up a reason to stay home. Some business reason, or something like more of that palaver over her mother's will. She hates Placid and winter sports anyway."

"Oh boy!" breathed Goody rapturously. "If she only would! I'll go talk to her right now. You know Hope, I'd even diet for Charlie Rand, I mean really diet!"

Hope watched Goody as she stalked unceremoniously out of the room. She wanted dreadfully to grin—but the grin wouldn't come!

She sighed and looked around Goody's scrupulously clean and shining room, almost nunlike in its rural and homely simplicity.

She scrutinized the New England antiques, the treasured patchwork quilt, the four-poster bed with its curved canopy top all done in sprigged-print covering to match the huge wing chair and its tiny hassock before the fireplace, the braided and looped rugs, the maple lowboy with its prim mirror above, framed in the Chippendale manner, and its ladder-back chair with a rush seat, the maple bureau with ball feet, the butterfly table, the framed sampler, the pewter sideplugs and candlesticks—again that gave Hope a strange feeling of melancholy and futility every time she entered.

Her eyes met themselves in the mirror as she completed her survey. They were clouded and slightly foggy, and one eyebrow went up as Hope broke into a mocking and somewhat explosive smile.

"You poor melen," she told herself with that sly delight which most every young girls experience in talking to themselves via a mirror so that they may study their expressions (and pastimes which many women never quite outgrow). "Goody, the north pole and you're the south pole, and you're both pretty much exactly the same, but you'll never get together."

Mrs. Ross and Goody remained on the Ross estate for the Christmas holidays. And only Papa Ross accompanied the houseparty to Placid. The party, in toto, included: Rusty Crandall, of the Gotham Crandall, who as soon as Yale finished him, would make by the best husband for Hope in eyes of Mama and Papa Ross, of the Senior Crandalls as well; Judy Hunt, Hope's "grande friend," who was a young lad, with lily hands, and a model of no mean distinction as a baby-talk vamp, to make up, mostly for her lack of more worldly and hence more desirable status. For Judy, while not near as angelic as he is, was a magnificent sumptuousness, a h a t was kept up on nothing a year (nothing meaning debts and loans), for most of the Hunt money had dribbled, year by year, to the endless, bottomless bucket of medical expenses that did little more than keep her mother alive. It was certainly up to Judy to marry, and to marry well; a combination many girls have found difficult in itself, but Judy found it almost unbearable. As much as she was being politely forced in to the amused and bored arms of Frisky Hall, while all the time her heart was given over to an unripe but well-meaning and adoring saxophone player in a road-house orchestra.

Betty Preston, a school chum of Hope's since the days of lollipops and stray kittens, who had the keen wit of knowing how to manage her life to suit herself, and still please her parents.

Frisky Hall, of Princeton, who boasted only (but boasted vociferously) of red, red hair, a millionaire father, a multi-millionaire aunt, a sail-boat of his own, a Rolls Royce roadster, a dependable unreliability, a surprisingly genial temper, a tendency toward kleptomania, a love affair every other week, a mean right arm with a tennis racket, and a moaner right wrist with a banjo.

Past Hollins, known to society columns as Patricia FitzHay Hollins, whose coming-out had to be reported three times: once in New York, once in Bar Harbor, and once in Paris; and who would be presented at Court next year (provided she didn't run off with her golf instructor beforehand, which tragedy looked very imminent indeed).

And Agnes Thorne, the white hope of Columbia, the swiftest drinker, sharpest wit, and best dresser in the five boroughs of New York.

Donald Russell, of Harvard, who was trying to work himself back to the gutter from which his politician father had risen.

And Agnes Thorne, known as "Angel" because of her willingness to do anything for anybody within the law, (the sweet, pale blonde who had staved over Hope's Latin for a good three years as payment for her acceptance into the society of Hope's gang), and who was noted also for turning her soft gray eyes toward Rusty wherever he toddled about, as a sunflower turns its eager, well-meaning face toward the sun, forgetting all subtlety.

It must be said for Hope that Latin papers alone wouldn't convince her of the rating necessary for acceptance in her private society. For while Hope's crowd were apt to pick up, upon the occasion, anyone from the garage boy to the girl who served banana splits in the favorite tea-room, the actual gang itself was as tight as adhesive plaster, and snooty as only the very young can be.

No—Angel Thorne had something, besides her ability to divide all Gaul into three parts, to offset her abject poverty and the fact that she lived on the wrong side of the tracks.

Wisconsin Evens Matters With Marquette Cagers; Wins 18 And 16

BOTH SQUADS SHOW WITHOUT STAR PLAYERS

Steen Leads Badger Scorers With Three Goals from the Field

MADISON — (AP)—Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, University of Wisconsin basketball coach, evened this season's score with his former pupil, Bill Chandler, when the Badgers defeated Marquette 18 to 16 here last night.

Coach Chandler's five took Wisconsin into camp at Milwaukee earlier in the season and the second game was scheduled as a result of the close fight. Coach Meanwell predicted another win for Marquette but the Badgers eked out the two-point victory after a stiff battle.

The Badgers were in the lead most of the time but they showed a ragged brand of play, throwing the ball away time after time and lacking a shooting eye. Marquette also was erratic and plainly showed the loss of Badger's end, Ranzani, veterans who were declared ineligible for competition this semester.

Zummach flipped in the first field goal but Nelson countered a minute later to even the score. Both teams stressed defense throughout the game and depended on quick shots for their scoring. The Badgers led at the half 9 to 7 and came back to gain a five point lead. It was short-lived, however, and the game was nip and tuck to the last whistle.

KIMBERLY FIVE TO MEET FORT HOWARDS

Villagers Will Try to Wipe Out Early Season Defeat Tonight

Kimberly — The Kimberly Clubhouse will be the scene of a real basketball game Wednesday when the Clubbers try to avenge a pre-season defeat at the hands of the Strong Fort Howard team from Green Bay.

The score was 48 to 37.

The Fort Howard aggregation is a clever bunch of rompers. East and West high school stars. Three of them have had experience in three state tournaments and as members of the Green Bay Y. M. C. A. team have attended the national amateur tournament twice.

Among the visitors will be Vernon Cappe, captain and guard, 16 to 18, a tall, thin, and a well known athlete around Green Bay. Arnold Boush, center, was chosen an all conference center in his days at East High. He has played three years in the Commercial league and three years with the Y. M. C. A. "Phantoms." Roeser is another six footer and for the last two years has performed for the Fort Howard team. Osmund, and Louis Gase, forwards and Boucher a guard, all have seen plenty of experience in both commercial and industrial leagues at Green Bay.

The Papermakers have been breezing away in fair style this year and have lost but two tussles in 21 starts. They have scored 75 points to opponents 48. Gossens the Club rubber man has been the Papermakers' biggest offensive threat and this year sank 129 buckets and 43 free throws.

A good preliminary game will precede the main game. Because of latten services the games will start later than usual, at about 8:30. George Christoph of Neenah will referee.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Milwaukee — Frankie Battaglia, Minneapolis, knocked out Vince Forgiato, Philadelphia (8); Tom Davenport, Chicago, stopped Mitz Minkler, Milwaukee (8); Barney Ross, Chicago, outpointed Mickey O'Neil, Milwaukee (6).

Chicago—Dave Shade, San Francisco, outpointed Henry Rippe, New Castle, Pa. (10); Young Stanley, Keokauke, Ill., knocked out Bud Jenkins, South Haven, Mich. (1).

Philadelphia — Harry Dubinsky, Chicago, outpointed Johnny Jadelok, junior lightweight champion (10), non title.

New York—Iszy Schwartz, New York, outpointed Jack Terranova, New York (5).

Pittsburgh—Nate Brown, California, outpointed Tony Galento, Jersey City (10).

Boston—Leo Larivee, Watbury, Conn., knocked out Mickey Bishop, Stoughton, Mass. (7).

Paris—Maurice Griselle, France, outpointed Dan McCorkindale, South Africa (10).

Miami, Fla.—Dota Nebo, Key West, outpointed Lou Avery, Tulsa, (10).

BRUSHING UP SPORTS ... By Laufer

THEY ALL LAUGHED WHEN TIM HURST terminated a long-winded Philadelphia to New York. St. Louis was playing the Athletics and Hurst, when umpiring in Philly, always managed to get back to his home in New York after the games. Jack Powell was pitching for St. Louis and what the Athletics didn't do to his pitching isn't worth mentioning. As the Athletics were piling up runs, train time drew nearer. Tim looked at his watch from time to time and Powell, noticing this, stalled the more. Finally in the ninth, Powell deliberately walked the first three men. Hurst burned up and called out the next three men on successive strikes though every ball came close to being a wild pitch. Tim just had time to catch the train.

IT'S enough to give any Cardinal fan the chills even to think about it but there were a few moments early last year when the question of trading or shelving Pepper Martin was actually discussed in the St. Louis front office.

Sam Breadon can tell the story now with a smile because he, Branch Rickey and Gabby Street willingly admit now they were all smart enough to realize Martin was TIE up and coming star of the outfield.

Martin was considered a finished product of the chain store system when he came up a year ago to win a regular berth for the first time. Waters with the team I recall some astonishment at the way this young-

AUGIE KIECKHEFER WINS THREE CUSHION TITLE TENTH TIME

Chicago Southpaw Cops from Otto Reisel 50-27 in 40 Innings

BY PAUL MICKELSON Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, a southpaw shooter by necessity, was king of the three-cushion billiard world for the tenth time today.

The diminutive Chicagoan, who was forced to change into a southpaw years ago when he lost the sight of his left eye, ascended to the throne with a convincing display of mastery last night, by routing his old rival Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, 50 to 27 in 40 innings.

Striking along with his best artillery and judging the pace of his shots with uncanny accuracy, Kieckhefer gave Reisel a fine billiard lesson in his rush to the top. He took the lead, staved off a threat in the early innings with fine defensive play and then dashed off to a long lead that simply shattered his rival's technique and billiard morale.

His victory sent him into a tie as champion of champions of the three-cushion domain with Johnny Layton, the Sedalia, Mo., red head, whose magic cue also has captured the crown ten times. But the victory won by Kieckhefer was probably the most valuable of them all as it gave him an annual salary of $6,000, $1,000 in cash, 16 per cent. of the net gate receipts from the long tournament and a diamond emblem, emblematic of the title, worth another $1,000. A good attorney, Kieckhefer was expected to add at least $10,000 more during the year with the proceeds of exhibitions.

Reisel was as far off his game last night as Kieckhefer was on his. While the Philadelphia missed comparatively easy shots—usually easy for him—because of misapplied English, Kieckhefer played one of his best games. His timing and judge of pace was brilliant; his stroke smooth and mastery. Twice, he broke through dangerous safety shots to score and repeatedly he thrilled the gallery with half masses and beautiful rail shots.

YANKS HAPPY OVER WINS AT OLYMPIC GAMES

Irving Jaffee Cops 10,000 Meter Race; Bob Sledgers Show Today

BY EDWARD J. NEIL Associated Press Sports Writer
LAKE PLACID, N. Y. —(AP)— Still exulting in victory such as the United States never before had known in speed skating, the throngs bulging the little village of Lake Placid turned again to the bob run slide on hazardous Mt. Van Hoevenberg and the problem of the queer quirks of weather that have plagued the 1932 winter Olympics.

Again a blizzard was sweeping the village, piling snow in the flag-draped streets, driving all but the natives indoors with its zero temperature. This was in contrast to the spring-time breezes, warmth and rain only two weeks ago which denuded the Adirondack mountain-sides of snow and ice.

But even the weather, after wiping out the scheduled start of the two man bobs yesterday and then relenting to thaw and soften ice on the Olympic stadium skating rink, could not maintain its vagaries long enough to deprive the United States of the last of a series of conquests such as the winter Olympics never before have seen.

Jaffee Win Again
In a snowstorm that followed a mid-day thaw, Irving Jaffee, ace of American distance skaters, sped to his second Olympic championship in the 10,000 meters final, giving the United States its first clean sweep of the four speed skating races in the history of the Olympic competition.

Facing as bad, if not worse conditions than yesterday, the two-man bobs teams of Austria, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, France, Rumania, Italy and the United States were ready again to dare the steep slopes of Mt. Van Hoevenberg.

In the indoor rink, their school figures completed but with no results announced, the fancy skaters of half a dozen nations stole a few minutes of the United States' free-skating figure skaters tonight's program. The results of this competition probably will not be announced until Wednesday.

Apparently a new Olympic champion is in the process of being crowned. Karl Schaefer, world champion from Austria, is taking the play away from Gills Grafstrom of Sweden, Olympic figure skating champion since inauguration of the winter games in 1924.

Another legion of figure skaters, the women champions of seven nations, joined competition today but they were considered more of a background than threat to the rule of Sonja Henie, brilliant Norwegian miss.

Women Speedsters Show
The women speed skaters of Canada and the United States faced the second of their exhibition series, a 1,000 meters event today.

Canada and the United States pulled farther away from the hockey opposition of Poland and Germany last night and seemed certain to battle for the Olympic championship Saturday, the final day of the games.

Canada so far has beaten the United States once, Germany twice and Poland once. The United States has beaten Poland twice and Germany once. Last night Canada beat Poland and the United States conquered Germany, both by 5-0 scores.

Princeton Would Like Crisler As Sports Head

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS Copyright 1932
CHICAGO—(AP)—That H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, director of athletics at the University of Minnesota, was being considered for the position of head football coach by Princeton University was learned from a reliable source by the writer today.

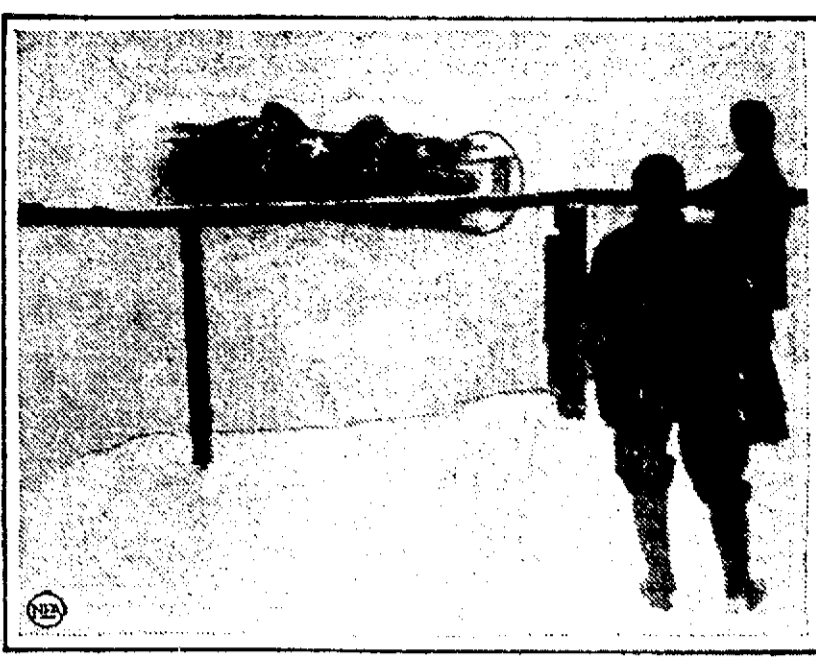

Crisler, after two successful years as director and coach at Minnesota, recently turned the football assignment over to Bernie Bierman in order to devote his full time to the administrative end of Gopher athletics, and the hint that he might be willing to leave the western conference was rather a surprise.

It is known that Princetonians have had a high regard for Crisler ever since the famous 1921 battle between the Chicago and Tiger elevens. Crisler at that time was the star end of the Maroon team and in that game completely outplayed Stanley Keck the great Tiger lineman. Crisler not only was a great wingman but also a great kicker and he gave Keck a strenuous afternoon.

The story is told that during the second half of the game, after the Maroons had shuttled Keck all over the field, Crisler approached the Tiger star and said: "You had better start showing something, Buddy, or else Bill Roper will send Keck in to take your place."

Would Go Well
Crisler is the type who would go well with Princeton men and do the best possible job with the Tiger elevens. A follower and for years an assistant of Ames Vernon, Crisler pursues the same high ethical code that has made the "old man of the middle" a pillar of intercollegiate athletics for more than 40 years.

Bristols took the second with a couple 170 scores, and won the third with H. Brock's 155.

B. Murray and L. Dunn rolled high enough scores to give the Writings three wins over the Ledgers. Murray had a 524 series and Dunn a 521.

RAISE $5,000 FUND FOR OLYMPIC HOSPITAL BILL

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. —(AP)— A nice gesture of sportsmanship of the kind that has nothing to do with blaring bands and "hands across the seas" fellowship for the benefit of photographers, has come out of the Winter Olympics, but not through the admission of any of those who had a part in it.

A few days ago the second of two German bobs sleds to crash on Mt. Van Hoevenberg sent four German sledges to the local hospital, two of them desperately injured and certain to be there for months to come. In one of the rules of the Olympics that injured athletes must take care of their hospital bills, it accidents befall them.

A group of American sportsmen, officials of the Olympic games, learned that the Germans, who paid their own expenses to come here and compete in the Olympics, would have trouble meeting the bill of costly treatments. Quietly a meeting was called.

Today there is $5,000 available for their treatment, if that sum should be needed.

Sturgeon Copped Two from the Pickers
The Sturgeon bowlers won two games in the K. of C. league last night at Elk alley and the Pike copped but one, giving the former a single game margin.

Pike dropped from first place losing two to the Bass. The Pike won the first games and dropped the last two. Hobbins won two from the Godfish and moved into third place. Buckles 131 and Bauer's 176 accounted for the two wins.

Porch improved their standings by winning three games from the Whales. The 171 to 126 handicap turned the trick.

Bluefish slipped out of big league form last evening and dropped three to the Haddock. A Guyer showed 539 series for the winners.

Sharks slipped further in the cellar by losing two games to the Mack and the 300 copped the first and third game with steady bowling and five returned series scores of better than 500.

C. Van Able rolled a 241 for the Tarpon and the team copped one game from the Herring. The Herring's 129 to 21 handicap also helped the latter.

Trout won the first game from the Salmon with a 214 by Wenzel, lost the second game and won the third with a 227 by Mullinapt. The team showed a 1925 score in the last game.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

TUNNEY made more boxing "experts" faces red than perhaps any other fighter in the world. When he said he would beat Dempsey because he had just what it took to do so, he was more than a little proved when he crossed them up. . . . that may have been one reason why they were glad to lead the nation in laughter at Tunney's high-sounding blarney. . . . there were two men who knew Gene Tunney would be world champion, knew it years before Gene himself appeared in a preliminary fighter on the Dempsey-Carpenter card. . . . one was Billy Roche, an ancient referee. . . . Roche was with the K. of C. corps of France. . . . and recognized Tunney's greatness when he saw him in bouts overseas. . . . the other man was James Joseph Tunney himself.

DEMPSEY SHOWS IN MILWAUKEE; FANS SKEPTIC

Mauler Looks Impressive at Times but Old Punch Is Missing

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, easily outpointed two opponents in four rounds of exhibition boxing here last night, but the cheering of some 8,000 fans was tinged with misgiving.

Veteran ring followers watched Dempsey knock back Everett, of Gary, Ind., and Jack Roper, Los Angeles, Calif., around the ring in bouts of two rounds each and by their applause conceded there was still considerable fight in the old Manassa mauler.

There were among the ringers, however, a number of veterans who were skeptical of Dempsey's ability to reach condition for a championship bout. They pointed out that Dempsey still handled himself effectively in spurts but that the old punch was missing.

Dempsey used his famous left hook to put Everett down three times for counts of nine. He was up on his toes during the two rounds and had Everett's nose and mouth bleeding. Dempsey's upper lip was cut in the first round.

Roper called punches with Dempsey without suffering serious damage until the second round. In that session Dempsey sent a left jab to the midsection, setting Roper on the canvas for a four-count. Roper profited by the lesson thereafter and cleverly evaded the old mauler's left.

Dempsey used his right with little effect, but when he punched with his left his opponents felt the sting of the blow. Dempsey weighed 194; Roper 137, and Roper 135.

The former champion left for Chicago immediately after his bouts. His share of the gate receipts was approximately $8,000.

In the windup match of the card, Frankie Battaglia, Minneapolis middleweight, knocked out Vince Forgiato, Philadelphia, in the eighth round of a scheduled 10 rounder. Both fighters protested several times against low blows and one bout was stopped for a few minutes in the fifth round when Forgiato claimed to have been fouled. He was ordered to continue.

CARLETON HAS WON 3 MIDWEST GAMES

Northfield Team Bids to Repeat in Race for Conference Title

Mount Vernon, Ia. — Except for Carleton's smashing 40 to 23 victory over Lawrence, little but upsets occurred in Midwest conference competition last week. Coe and Knox broke even on their two conference games to place Coe, Cornell, Monmouth and Ripon in a tie for last place. Beloit won a 35 to 32 contest from Knox and remain in the underdog class and Keokauke defeated Ripon on Friday, 35 to 25, to lower the Redmen.

Coe unleashed a scorching attack on Friday to beat Monmouth, 31 to 20, but succumbed to Cornell the next night, 34 to 25.

The Carleton five will play Cornell and Coe this weekend after playing St. Olaf in non-conference games on Tuesday. Monmouth starts a three day campaign at Ripon on Wednesday, plays Carroll Thursday and Beloit on Friday. Ripon and Lawrence clash in their official midwest game Saturday.

WEST ALLIS TEAM IS 4TH IN PIN TOWN

Kenosha — (AP) — The West Allis State Bank bowling team rolled a 2,570 total in the state tournament here last night to take fourth place previously held by the Look Hardware of Milwaukee.

A. Sikorra led the individual sharpshooters with a 608 total on games of 303, 360 and 387.

Other scores on the regular equal failed to change standings in the first five places on the board.

CARRIERS LEAD NEW REACTION ON WALL STREET

Movement Over Weekend Creates Unfavorable Impression on Traders

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1932, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—There is no concealing the fact that the week-end reaction in the stock market has made an unfavorable impression on traders.

Probably it was the weakness in the railroads that was the most disappointing feature. The selling first appeared in the carrier group and the street has been led to believe that the railroad shares forecast the course of the rest of the list. More or less that has been true ever since the fall of 1929, and on this account sentiment was inclined to the bear side.

This view, however, is not shared in all quarters. In rebuttal, it is pointed out that the selling never reached any great volume and that the selling was due more to the absence of buying demand than to any short selling pressure. There is also reason to believe that short selling played a large part and to that extent strengthened the technical position. It seems improbable that there can be any large blocks of stock overhanging the market at this stage. At the close Friday the accepted averages were still well above the Jan. 5 lows. The utilities were closer to the minimum than either the rails or the industrials.

Cheerfulness Gone Reasons for the weakness in the rails are not hard to find. The mere idea of so strong a railroad as the Pennsylvania applying to the reconstruction finance corporation for a loan, even if it was for the purpose of relieving unemployment, was a shock. Fully as potent was the expectation that the January earnings statements will make just as bad if not a worse showing than at any time during the depression. Finally, the cheerful feeling due to the successful conclusion of the wage negotiations has now been dissipated.

There are two sources from which relief might come. One is some tangible evidence of trade improvement, and of what the signs so far are meager. The other is a reversal of the trend in commodities. Of that, too, there is not yet much indication of improvement. The extreme weakness in sugar and rubber is due to conditions peculiar to those industries. More significant, perhaps, is the absence of any recovery in copper. Cotton makes a better showing and so do the grains.

It may be that silver will lead the way out. That market has been very dull of late and around 30c an ounce the authorities say silver is undervalued. They add that any advance in the white metal is likely to come about not from the hostilities in China, but from demand in India.
A rise in silver could be hailed as a favorable omen for commodities, in much the same fashion as fluctuations in railroad stocks are traditionally believed to forecast the future of that market.

SAY DRY LAW COSTS NEARLY 11 BILLION

Washington—(AP)—A total just under eleven billion dollars is the estimate of the cost of prohibition made by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

This figure was given in a statement issued by the organization Sunday, calling upon congress again to submit the question of repeal to the people. The association also estimated cost of enforcement at $370,000,000 and the "national drink bill" at $28,414,949-600.

"We are prepared," said the statement, "to substantiate every one of the foregoing figures. Where they have not been lifted bodily from federal official reports, they are sound estimates, which will successfully withstand the scrutiny of any statistician who is impartial and competent."

Elsie Tells Why She Waited 20 Years To Take A Husband

And incidentally, she doesn't believe children owe a debt to their parents.

By Elsie Janis

(This is the second of three articles by Elsie Janis on her matrimonial "experience.")

(Copyright, 1932, by NEA Service Inc.)

Having had the joy of a mother for 40 years and only a few weeks of marriage, it is perhaps presumptuous on my part to try to write on the subject.

But after all, admitting that there are millions of people who know more about marriage than I do, the fact remains that no one was ever more consistently and successfully mothered than I was and still am for that matter, because without any suggestion of Spiritualism I must say that mother, though officially out of life's great argument, is more with me than ever.

I do not believe that children owe a debt to their parents. If said parents happen to be regular people that the children love just as they might love anyone else, O. K. Stay with them, spoil them, and honor them, just because two people fall in love, marry, have a marvelous experience and in due time bring into this cock-eyed but grand old world a wee squalling and unsuspecting being, I think they owe the child everything they can give it, if not an apology.

I said apropos of my marriage to a very young man, that I hoped to have a husband and a child in one,
and thus up down on the schedule!
Several sentimentalists misquoted me, as saying that I hoped to have a child.

That is the well known Apple Sauce. I have always been a pretty good mimic, but I could never hope to be the mother that mother was,
and so why risk a flop at this late stage? Incidentally, my husband (that looks odd to me) at the time of going to press, is bearing up well and more attractive than he was a month ago before I said, "I do!"

If it develops that I cannot hold him on account of the difference in our ages, I will take it big and bow out, but I will say to the girls of 22 and 23 who reside in Reno, "What's your alibi?"

(Tomorrow: Miss Janis will tell exactly what she looks forward to in a matrimonial career which started long after many women feel they are "on the shelf.")

ASK LOWER PRICES ON FARM IMPLEMENTS

Want Trade Commission to Investigate Operations of Alleged Trust

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Lower prices on farm instruments to keep pace with the drop in commodity prices is demanded in a resolution introduced by Representative Gardner R. With-row of La Crosse directing the federal trade commission to investigate the activities of the alleged implement trust and bring the necessary action required to reduce implement prices.

"The cost of farm implements constitute approximately one third of the expense of farm operation," said Withrow in support of the measure.

"Due to the monopoly which now controls the farm machinery business, prices have been maintained at War-time levels, which means that while the prices of farm products have dropped almost to the vanishing point since the war, machinery prices are still at the same high war-time prices."

Though the farm machinery trust was ordered to dissolve and adjust its prices in 1913 and action was brought against it in 1923, monopolistic prices have continued, according to Withrow.

"Last year thousands of farmers were financially ruined while the International Harvester Company made a huge profit besides setting up a reserve fund of over six million dollars for bad accounts, concluded the Wisconsin representative.

POINTS TO BOOZE ON ALIEN-OWNED SHIPS

Washington—(AP)—R. K. Smith, eign flag ship "trips to nowhere" charge passengers.

American ships would not be barred from this trade under the Davis bill.

A total of $21,730 was collected in taxes by F. E. Bachman, city treasurer, last week. The lowest total of the tax collection period was on Saturday, when only $2,066 was taken in.

Mr. Bachman stated this morning that from now on tax collections will increase proportionately as end of the tax paying period nears

"Regarding the advantage of pasteurization I share the view which I think is now prevalent that, as a safeguard against the possibility of milk borne infection, it is better that all milk below the grade of certified be pasteurized."
